Interest Rates

NEW YORK (AP) — Interest rates on large corporate loans rose to the highest level in nearly three years Friday as major banks across the country boosted their prime rate from 7½ to 7¾ per cent.

It was the seventh increase this year in the minimum borrowing fee that banks charge their largest and most credit-worthy corporate customers.

The hike means that big business will find it more difficult and expensive to obtain bank loans.

But interest rates on mortgages and loans to house-holders and small businesses are expected to remain relatively stable because of a dual system the government has set up to protect small borrowers.

Generally higher interest rates are regarded as anti-inflationary because they dampen the growth of bank credit, which is the major factor behind economic expansion.

But some economists say the series of increases in the prime this year won't have much effect on slowing the economy because the Federal Reserve is still allowing the country's money supply to expand too rapidly, they claim.

The latest increase in the prime became industrywide Friday when the Bank of America in California, the nation's largest, and other big banks followed the lead of the First National Bank of Chicago.

On Monday the Chicago bank said it was raising the prime by a quarter of a percentage point to bring the bank lending rate in line with interest rates in the open market.

Rates in the money market, which is where dealers buy and sell short-term funds and where banks obtain a major portion of their lendable funds, have been climbing sharply recently.

Submarine Deaths

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A minister eulogized two researchers who died in a midjet submarine trapped beneath the Atlantic Ocean. He said they "left a legacy to the world."

Orange and blue flowers shaped into a minibus decorated the chapel Friday where Presbyterian Pastor Frederick McClellan praised Clayton Link, 31, and Albert Stover, 51, as trail blazers whose work would benefit all mankind in the future.

An American flag flew at half staff outside. The two men's families were joined in the small chapel by the two survivors of the 30-hour underwater ordeal — Robert Meek, 27, and Archibald Menzies, 30.

The flag-draped caskets were placed in front of about 350 mourners while their relatives, Meek and Menzies sat apart in a secluded area.

Father Jordan of St. Helen's Catholic Church joined Dr. McClellan, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Vero Beach, in conducting the funeral service.

"Don't get bogged down" with the events that led up to the tragedy, the Rev. John Jordan told the families, but rather be glad that the two men "are with their Maker."

The body of Link, a Presbyterian, was to be flown to Binghamton, N.Y., for burial later.

Stover, a Catholic and the father of seven, was buried immediately after the service at nearby Jupiter Beach.

Martha Mitchell

WASHINGTON (AP) — Martha Mitchell, once the darling of the Nixon administration, now travels a lonely, bitter road.

In the days when romance blossomed, she said what she thought. And in the days of Watergate, she has been no different.

"Give 'em hell, Martha," Nixon said as she attacked his critics in the days when her husband was the attorney general.

But now she has said that the President should resign over Watergate ... that he was surrounded by liars ... that her husband, John, is protecting him.

Mrs. Mitchell, was last seen Thursday, apparently heading out of New York to escape reporters. It was different a few years ago when Washington reporters made the new attorney general's wife an instant celebrity.

She is one of the few women recognized almost widely by their first names: Liz, Jackie, Raquel, Martha.

Sometimes her broad smile, dancing eyes and Arkansas drawl failed to remove the sting from her words.

"It's liberals like you who are selling this country down the river to the Communists," she once told Republican Sen. Charles Percy at a dinner party. Later she said she'd been kidding, and that Percy didn't get the joke. "He's real cute," she said. "Don't you think Charlie's cute?"

Her gabbiness grabbed headline after headline. She spoke of antiwar demonstrators as "liberal Communists" and said her husband thought one demonstration looked to him "like a Russian revolution." She phoned the Arkansas Gazette and asked them to "crucify" Sen. J. William Fulbright.

"The Vietnam war stinks," and Nixon is ending it, she said. Racial school busing is "stupid," and Nixon opposes it. The press may have "caused its own death" by printing the Pentagon papers.

"Good fun and games," her husband later described it. Nixon was delighted, and Mrs. Mitchell returned the affection. "He'll kill me when I say it, but it's almost a fatherly love. That's how I think of him," she said in 1970.

Although she had hard words for Nixon's enemies, she sometimes sounded like a flower child. "We should all try to get together and be brothers and sisters," she said when Nixon's China trip was announced.

That mood changed a few months later, after the Watergate raiders were caught inside Democratic headquarters.

One of the men arrested was campaign security chief James McCord, who had driven Mrs. Mitchell's daughter Marty back and forth to school for a time.

Mitchell did quit shortly after that. Now he is accused in sworn testimony of helping plan and cover up the wiretapping, which he denies. He has pleaded innocent to charges of conspiracy, perjury and obstruction of justice in a somewhat-related case.

Joint Efforts To Avert War
Leaders Sign New Pledge

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon and Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev signed a new declaration Friday pledging joint efforts to avert war and nuclear disaster.

In a reference aimed apparently at Communist China, the United States and the Soviet Union also agreed to work together when any third country acts to "endanger international peace and security."

The two world leaders signed the pact, the eighth in their current round of summit talks, in the White House East Room. In late afternoon they left for California to continue their consultations at the President's San Clemente home.

Three years ago the Soviet Union tried but failed to convince the United States that it should stand shoulder-to-shoulder with Moscow to guard against Communist Chinese military thrusts.

Henry A. Kissinger, the President's national security adviser, said the "practical effect" of this new two-nation pact "would be to prevent the outbreak of hostilities against any other country."

Kissinger, in briefing newsmen, was asked specifically about application to China. He skirted the subject somewhat, while also saying: "We have no intention of being an arbiter between the Soviet Union and the People's Republic of China."

However, he said at another point, "Clearly under this agreement the use of force against another country which would have wide repercussions would be precluded."

Key articles of the agreement include:

Ruling Labeled 'Rape Of The Constitution'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some adult movie houses and book stores closed their doors Friday or planned to change their fare in the wake of a U.S. Supreme Court ruling apparently giving police more leeway to get tough with pornography peddlers.

"Closed due to uncertainty of court decision. Open when situation more stable," read a sign on the door of the Adult Movie Arcade in downtown Louisville, Ky.

Don's Playland a block away decided on a closeout sale.

"Due to the most recent ruling by the Supreme Court, we are liquidating all stock — 50 per cent off."

Owner Don Marsh prophesied the ruling would drive pornography back underground. He called the decision a "rape of the Constitution."

Other newsstands and book stores displayed signs saying "for inventory."

Most pornography peddlers agreed the industry was in trouble and some film houses planned to change their tastes as a result.

"The law is the law. We have to abide by what they say," said Paul Jones, manager of Today, an X-rated theater in Chicago. "We'll just have to go to something else. We'll go to the films with less sex and black films."

Joseph Boardman, advertising manager of the underground newspaper, the Los Angeles Free Press, said he alerted his sales staff that "there's a good chance we'll be changing our advertising policy drastically in light of the Supreme Court ruling."

"If they (the police) start hasseling us ... we'll take the nudies out ..."

Hours after the ruling, which allows communities to define their own standards of obscenity, police raided "The Adult Theater" in Orlando, Fla. A projectionist and the ticket taker at the showing of the porno classic "Deep Throat" were arrested on charges of violating the state's antismitut law.

Elsewhere in the nation, police and prosecutors huddled to study the court ruling and map strategy against "King Porno." But they spoke cautiously about crackdowns.

"I think a prudent course of action would be to wait for the local officials to redraw the guidelines ... then we can proceed," said a Cincinnati, Ohio, Police Department spokesman.

Cook County state Attorney Bernard Carey said the ruling will end the "everything-goes standard."

"The Supreme Court has emphasized that obscenity is not protected by our Constitution. Prosecution of hard-core pornography peddlers will be much easier," he said.

Vietnam Cease-Fire Machinery Stalled

SAIGON (AP) — Vietnam's military peacekeeping commission met Friday for the fourth time in eight days since the signing of a renewed cease-fire communique. The members again failed to make any progress on issues blocking peace.

And another provision of the communique, providing for repatriating the remains of American dead and verifying the missing, remained stalled when the weekly liaison flight between Saigon and Hanoi was canceled for the second successive week. The flight was canceled after North Vietnamese officials refused to sign a certificate that their baggage and cargo was free of dangerous materials.

There were some encouraging signals, however.

The U. S. Navy announced that the main channel of Hai-phong harbor, North Vietnam's main port, was open and safe for shipping.

And fighting across South Vietnam fell to its lowest level of the five-month old cease-fire. The number of alleged violations reported by the Saigon command remained well below 100 for the fourth successive day and the intensity of the fighting tapered off into patrol clashes.

Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, chief spokesman for the Saigon command, noted that the number of alleged Communist violations was down by more than one-third.

"We have not seen any special meaning in the decrease of Communist activity," he said.

Each side blamed the other for the impasse in the two-party Joint Military Commission which was designated by Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho to carry out most of the major provisions in the communique designed to strengthen the original Vietnam peace agreement of Jan. 27.

Colson Says Hunt Ordered To Flee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former presidential aide Charles W. Colson says that when he asked the whereabouts of E. Howard Hunt two days after the Watergate break-in, White House counsel John W. Dean III said Hunt had been ordered out of the country.

Colson said that when he objected strongly, partly on grounds the White House might be aiding a fugitive, Dean made a telephone call in Colson's presence and claimed he got the order rescinded.

Hunt later was convicted in the Watergate trial.

Despite his violent objection to the Hunt order, Colson said, he did not ask Dean or anyone else who issued it or why.

Colson insisted in an interview that he had no evidence of White House involvement in the Watergate break-in or subsequent attempted cover-up this year.

Colson said it was not until January that he had any suspicion that Dean was involved in either phase of the Watergate scandal.

He said he completely forgot the incident about Hunt's whereabouts until Dean reminded him of it in April.

Astronauts Complete Triumph

ABOARD USS TICONDEROGA (AP) — The Skylab astronauts, completing in triumph a mission which started with threatened failure, returned to earth in "supershape" Friday from the longest space voyage ever.

Astronauts Charles Conrad Jr., Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz ended 28 days in orbit with a precisely on-target landing in the Pacific Ocean about 830 miles southwest of San Diego, Calif.

Despite medical fear of their condition after four weeks in weightlessness, the spacemen felt well enough to walk, wave and laugh as they strolled with unsteady steps across the deck of this prime recovery vessel.

"They look quite good," a space agency doctor said.

The astronauts went immediately to a mobile medical laboratory for extensive examinations.

Conrad, Kerwin and Weitz left behind them in orbit a salvaged space station which is ready for the planned 56-day missions of the Skylab 2 and 3 crews. When the men of Skylab 1 boarded the orbiting laboratory 28 days earlier, it was overheated, underpowered and seemed destined for failure. But in a series of daring repair efforts, the astronauts patched up the ailing spaceship.

They also returned with 80 per cent of their assigned science mission completed. They brought with them biological samples and thousands of feet of film and tape which experts believe will provide precious news knowledge about the sun, the earth and about man himself.

President Nixon hailed their accomplishments as "a source of intense pride for the American people."

Dr. James Fletcher, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, called the Skylab 1 astronauts "the master tinkers of space."

Conrad, Kerwin and Weitz undocked their Apollo command ship from the end of the Skylab space station early Friday morning and started their homeward journey from 275 miles in orbit. They guided the command ship to a precise pinpoint splashdown.

"Everybody is in supershape," said Conrad as the craft bobbed on the water.

Helicopters quickly hovered over the craft, dropping swimmers who attached a flotation collar and a sea anchor.

The Ticonderoga skipper, Capt. Norman K. Green, maneuvered the 42,000-ton carrier beside the three men craft in gentle Pacific waves. A line was attached and 25 sailors, hauling in rhythm, pulled the spent spaceship next to the 900-foot-long carrier.

A crane normally used for boats and aircraft, lifted the command ship, with the astronauts still inside, 25 feet to an elevator deck, placing the spacecraft on a platform.

Because of medical concern about the deconditioning effect on the astronauts after four weeks in space, provisions had been made to remove the astronauts from the command ship on stretchers.

Quick medical tests by Kerwin, a physician, however, removed any question about the spacemen being carried.

Conrad, then Weitz and finally Kerwin climbed unsteadily through a spacecraft hatch while the ship's band played "America" for the all-

Navy crew.

The astronauts, wearing flight suits and blue baseball-style caps, walked on rubbery legs, with doctors hovering at their elbows. But the men smiled and waved at cheering sailors nearby, and walked the 66-foot-long red carpet.

Dr. Lawrence F. Deitlein, deputy director of life sciences at the Johnson Space Center, said in a Houston news conference that preliminary findings showed the astronauts in excellent health.

After the astronauts left the spaceship, technicians immediately began unloading the harvest of scientific data stored aboard.

The Skylab 1 accomplishment many officials regard as the most significant is the salvage of the $294-million Skylab space (Turn To Page Seven) (See "Pledge")

Agnew Gets Into The Act—Mistake

One is well advised to avoid tangling in debate with Spiro Agnew, a man of no mean forensic abilities.

For once, however, the vice-president seems to have gotten the worst of it in a recent exchange of charges and countercharges regarding the Watergate hearings.

Mr. Agnew started it off in a speech in St. Louis in which he accused the committee headed by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., of indulging in a "gross perversion of justice." By making both committee members and witnesses perform as players on "a spotlighted national stage," he said, the hearings are complicating the search for truth and may make it impossible for the Watergate guilty ever to be convicted. That is, they may have a good claim that because of all the publicity they cannot get a fair trial.

Interestingly enough, one of the sharpest reactions came from a Republican member of the committee, Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr. of Connecticut. In the year since the break-in of Democratic campaign headquarters in Washington's Watergate complex, he said, "What truth has emerged has come from the press, the courts and the Ervin committee."

"Noticeably deficient from any contribution to the facts has been the President and the vice-president of the United States."

Adding injury to insult, Weicker noted that the trial of Daniel Ellsberg, the White Panthers in Detroit, the "Camden 28" and 11 gambling, narcotics and bribery cases in Miami "were all prosecutions that were thrown out because of illegal conduct on the part of the executive branch."

A milder statement was that of Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, who averred that the Ervin committee is doing "a fair and unbiased, nonpartisan job."

On the Democratic side, Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana recalled that much of the information that led to convictions in the Teapot Dome scandal of the 1920s came from the Senate's investigation of the case, and he expects the same thing to happen this time.

Said Mansfield's assistant, Sen. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia:

"If Jack Ruby, after shooting Lee Harvey Oswald in full view of millions of television viewers, could get a fair trial by an impartial jury; if Sirhan Sirhan, physically overcome by Rosie Grier in full view of shocked millions following the shooting of Sen. Robert Kennedy, could get a fair trial by an impartial jury; surely it will not be impossible to select an impartial jury in a far less dramatic and less emotional case involving Watergate offenders."

"Methinks," Byrd added, "the vice-president doth protest too much."

Previously, numerous political observers had suggested that if the vice-president has hopes of a presidential nomination in 1976, his wisest course would be to maintain a discrete silence about and aloofness from the whole Watergate mess.

Mr. Agnew has apparently chosen not to, no doubt from the highest motives, since he has been untouched by the spreading stain of Watergate and is in no danger of being touched.

But the telling blasts he incurred after his St. Louis statement indicate that neither he nor the cause of truth will be well served by more forays on his part onto the body-strewn field of Watergate.

Mindless Savagery

It is mindless savagery which prompts such terrorism as the bombing that killed six persons and wounded many others in the Northern Ireland community of Coleraine. No cause, however, keenly felt, justifies such indiscriminate violence.

It is easy enough to condemn outrages of this kind, which have added so heavily to the toll of dead and injured during four years of open strife between Protestant and Roman Catholic extremists. Devising means of bringing the violent and fruitless extremism to a halt is quite another matter.

Clearly, the fundamental causes of the dispute must somehow be dealt with. The efforts being made to effect some compromise solution reasonably acceptable to both sides must be intensified.

Meanwhile, one can hope that the presumable majority who are sick of violence will at last cry a plague on both houses and refuse direct or indirect support of any kind to the bloody-minded extremists. The only hope for the immediate future is that Northern Ireland's responsible people will turn their backs on the few who are doing what is simply intolerable in civilized society.

Red Bloc Views Summit With Mixed Feelings

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
East European communist bloc nations view the Nixon-Brezhnev talks with mixed feelings.

On the one hand improved relations between the United States and the Soviet Union opens the way for them to improve their own economies and standards of living through increased access to Western products and know-how.

On the other hand are the misgivings shared by the Soviet Union itself over the effects on their own populations of increased contacts with Western ideas and peoples.

Among the small nations there also is the fear that the Russians may be bartering away to the United States and West Germany some of the oil and other materials upon which they have come to depend for their own economic planning.

A case in point is the huge Occidental Petroleum-El Paso Gas project covering export of Siberian gas.

New Willingness Emerges

Within the bloc Hungary has almost no raw materials of its own and depends upon the Soviet Union for up to 90 per cent of its supplies. The Hungarians are now planning for beyond 1980 and are pressing the Russians for estimates of what they can expect.

On the other side of the coin is a statement issued in the name of COMECON, the Communist bloc's trade organization, after a meeting in Prague early this month.

"Member countries confirmed their willingness to develop economic relations with other countries, regardless of their social and state systems on the basis of equality, mutual advantage, and non-interference in internal affairs," the statement said.

Beneath the cautious wording was a new willingness to enter into cooperative projects with the Western nations.

West Germany, France and Italy already have investments in some bloc nations and are planning to invest in others.

But, while eager for expanded economic relations, the Communists also are throwing up what safeguards they can against an invasion of Western ideas.

Isolation Impossible

At a meeting in Warsaw in May, Konstantin Katushev, a trusted lieutenant of Brezhnev, called for "complete ideological and organizational coordination" within the bloc against dissidents and revisionists at home.

Similar calls came from other speakers and suggested the fears not only were concerned with Western ideas but also with a growth of Maoism among the younger workers.

In some respects the Communists already are admitting they are powerless to halt the flow of ideas completely.

It is impossible for them to isolate their people completely from the increasing flood of Western tourists.

And neither Czechoslovakia nor East Germany can cut off Western television without jamming their own stations.

President Flunks Human Relations

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
WASHINGTON (NEA) — A Republican figure with a penchant and a talent for human probing says this of President Nixon against the backdrop of Watergate:

"He has used the presidency to justify his weaknesses."

Obviously the statement can have meaning only if it is understood what this man — and a good many other Nixon watchers — consider to be Mr. Nixon's principal weaknesses. They can be summed up easily under the heading of "inability in human relations."

This now is ground pretty well covered in the many hard examinations made of the President's conduct in or in quest of public office.

What the quoted Republican was getting at is this:

Mr. Nixon long ago perceived his own limitations in dealing close-range with people. In his campaign for office, and particularly for the White House, he sought to minimize any possible political and personal damage from these evident shortcomings by devices aimed at controlling the "campaign environment" in which he moved.

This meant carefully contrived public appearances, minimum direct exposure to the press through conferences and interviews, avoidance of the traumatic (for him) business of confronting either ordinary voting folk or political leaders in unpredictable one-on-one situations.

But a president, thrown almost inevitably into all kinds of problems, he can't foresee, requires a rich variety of human contacts to fuel his imagination and reinforce whatever creative impulses he may bring to the job.

This difficult leap Mr. Nixon has not made. In the White House fortress which automatically fosters a certain isolation for all presidents, he has moved as he did in his campaign — to control his whole "environment." But in this case, that of course means managing the entirety of government, and its approach to problems which in this age are inescapably immense, in a manner which supports the President's great lack in the human field.

So he has contrived to run the presidency as the carefully closeted solitaire player, shuffling the key cards whose symbols spell major foreign and domestic problems. And, to reinforce himself with aides who would keep him secure in his weaknesses — rather than try to help him compensate for them by wide-ranging, understanding contacts with the "human stuff" in politics, in this government, and in those abroad.

A president, as any man, deserves some sympathy as he pays the cost of his frailties. Speaking in his own special context of time and circumstances, President Woodrow Wilson once said: "When they shoot at you, they can wound your natural life; when they sneer at you, they can wound your living heart . . ."

Richard Nixon, in the grip of his frailties has been sneered at long and often. His response has no always been limited to simple self-protection. Wounded in his "living heart," he has sometimes struck back in vengeful bitterness. The irony: That reply has made his heart a still bigger target.

Ann Landers:

Teen Pregnancy Shakes Family

Dear Ann Landers: Our 17-year-old son went steady for two years with a "nice girl." Now the girl is six months pregnant and she refuses to give up the baby for adoption.

Marriage is out of the question. Neither one of them is dry behind the ears yet. We are trying to be nice to the girl, even though we feel she did this intentionally in an effort to hook our son. We have known for a long time that he was losing interest in her and we suggested that they break off the steady arrangement six months ago. This is all such a nightmare that I can't believe it is happening to our family. Please, Ann, tell your teenage readers that even though they are still children emotionally, they have the physical equipment to make live babies. And this is one mistake they will have to pay for the rest of their lives. Sign me—Still Numb

Dear S.N.: I keep telling them and I will continue to do so until my typewriter falls apart. Maybe YOUR letter will strike a responsive chord. I hope so.

Dear Ann Landers: It is regrettable that you were misled into publishing that letter saying an automobile cannot be steered if the engine is turned off. All Ford products can be easily maneuvered with the engine off. The effort required to steer only goes up at very low speeds. Even then, the car can be steered if it is rolling.

By the way, I saw you on an airplane once, busily working on your letters. I determined that your bumpers, chassis, transmission, differential and accessories were just great. Congratulations. — Charley Chrome from Detroit

Dear Charley: Nice plug for Ford, which I don't mind, in view of your kind remarks about my accessories. Ralph Nader hasn't suggested that I be recalled yet, so I assume I'm in pretty good shape for a 1918 model. Thanks for my laugh for the day.

Dear Ann Landers: I was interested in that insensitive complaint from the woman who said her friend stepped closer and closer to talk and it was very annoying because she was getting sprayed on.

A few days later you printed a letter from an old geezer who said his secretary leaned in closer and closer as she was taking dictation and he didn't know how to tell her that she was steaming up his glasses. (He interpreted it as a "come-on," and so did you.)

The reason for the "lean in" in both cases (you missed it completely) is obviously impaired hearing. The first woman should have told her friend to quit mumbling and to use the voice God gave her. Many people who have hearing problems are driven up the wall by inconsiderate mumbblers. That secretary would probably die if she knew what her boss was thinking. I'll bet anything the poor girl also has a hearing problem.

Not everyone with impaired hearing can be helped by a hearing aid, so they have to bluff it. Please, Ann, tell your readers how thoughtful it would be if everyone spoke clearly and distinctly when in the company of senior citizens. The hard-of-hearing would experience a 50 per cent improvement in listening pleasure. — Leaning Closer in New Orleans

Dear Leaning: Impaired hearing isn't always all bad. Remember Winston Churchill's remark when a Member of Parliament put on his hearing aid to listen to a notoriously dull speaker. "You are a fool, Sir," said Winnie, "not to take advantage of a natural infirmity."

RECOMMEND ADMISSION OF BOTH GERMANY'S UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The Security Council unanimously recommended today that the General Assembly admit East and West Germany to the United Nations.

The General Assembly is expected to vote both Germanys and the Bahamas into the organization on Sept. 18, opening day of the fall session. That would bring U.N. membership to 135 countries.

Kerner Defense Fund Started

CHICAGO (AP) — A volunteer group organized by two businessmen and a lawyer plans to raise money for the defense of former Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner, who was convicted in February in connection with race-track stock dealings.

Citizens for the Defense of Otto Kerner, Inc., is "made up of friends of Otto who feel he is positively not guilty as accused," said Charles H. Sethness, a Chicago businessman and one of the organization's founders.

Sethness said the case "was a little too complicated for the jury."

Kerner and his one-time state revenue director, Theodore J. Isaacs, were convicted of conspiracy, bribery, fraud and income tax evasion in connection with race-track stock they bought while Kerner was governor from 1960 to 1968. Kerner also was convicted of perjury in the case.

Sethness said that "so many people voluntarily offered to be of help to Otto that as a group we concluded we should make an active effort to solicit gifts for his defense."

He said the organization planned letter writing, phone calls and personal visit campaigns in the near future.

BOY---then MAN

Copyright 1973 by the American Bible Society, Inc., Washington, D.C.

Scriptures selected by the American Bible Society

That's my son, Jerry, literally two feet off the ground last Saturday in the top half of the ninth. His team was ahead by one run and the bases loaded when he caught the fly that ended the game.

Whatever else good happens to Jerry, I know he'll never forget that sweet thrill of victory.

Years from now, when faced with a tough situation, that memory could be the inspiration for another triumph. The things that happen to a boy do shape the man.

That's why I've always taken Jerry to our church. I want the smell of candles on the altar, the blend of voice and heart in hymn and litany, to be a part of his life. I want for him the joy that comes from understanding God.

My father did the same for me.

How about you?

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Even One Cigarette Can Be Harmful

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I am an ex-smoker and have recently read one of your articles about tobacco. Why do people who write about the dangers of cigarettes always say that when anyone smokes two packages of cigarettes a day, and inhales them, it is harmful? The truth is that even under a pack a day is harmful to a person's health. I believe if you would say cigarette smoking in any amount is dangerous it would cause more people to give them up.

My husband has smoked for years and has a terrible cough, and he never feels good. He has left them off for as long as two weeks, and in that short a time he feels better, eats better, and his cough gets better, but he starts smoking one and eventually four cigarettes a day and the next thing you know, he's feeling bad again. He has never smoked two packs a day, but they definitely hurt him. Most articles leave the impression that up to two packs a day won't harm your health, so why don't you tell the people the truth.

Dear Reader—If I've ever given the impression that any amount of smoking is all right for a person's health, it certainly has not been my intention. Studies show that beginning with one cigarette, the more one smokes, the more likely there is to be difficulty. I agree that a pack of cigarettes a day is harmful. Even three or four cigarettes a day can be harmful. A person who's been a reasonably heavy smoker and then cuts down, but continues to smoke even one or two cigarettes a day, will not get the full benefits that he should in reversing abnormal changes in the cells within the lungs. Some of these cellular changes seem to be maintained even by small amounts of the cigarette smoke. Certainly anyone who has a cough and other problems associated with cigarettes should stop smoking immediately.

If you've read very many of my columns you know that I also feel that being forced to inhale the cigarette smoke from other people is also bad for your health.

Dear Dr. Lamb—If exercise is so important how come bed-ridden patients can survive 30 or 40 years and live until their 70s without hardly moving?

Dear Reader—in the first place, not many of them do.

So the basic assumption implied in your question isn't necessarily true. There are examples of individuals who do live a long time at bed rest or with other disabling factors that prevent physical activity. One safeguard these people have is that they are unable to go out and engage in physical activity beyond the limits of their capability. They are not likely to sit before the television set and stuff themselves with potato chips and cheese dips and then run to catch the bus.

Many disabled patients are under constant medical supervision, and problems which occur are often taken care of immediately. There is an old saying that one way to live a long life is to get a chronic disease and take care of it. Possibly because they cannot get to the kitchen, these individuals are usually not overweight. In general, individuals who are not obese tend to live longer than overweight individuals. There are always exceptions to general rules, and exercise is not the only factor in longevity.

Many English towns and villages still sound the curfew bell each evening at 8 or 9 o'clock.

two countries "to act in such a manner as to prevent the development of situations capable of causing a dangerous exacerbation of their relations, as to avoid military confrontations, and as to exclude the outbreak of nuclear war between them and between either of the parties and other countries."

2. A mutual promise to "refrain from the threat of the use of force" against each other, the other's allies and other countries "in circumstances which may endanger international peace and security."

3. If the risk of nuclear war arises, they "shall immediately enter into urgent consultations with each other and make every effort to avert this risk."

4. Nothing in the agreement affects the inherent right of self-defense by the United States or the Soviet Union, alone or with their allies.

With the agreement, the United States hopes to have additional means of reassuring Peking, with which it is improving relations, that it has acted to restrain the Russians. That is because the agreement pledges Moscow and the United States both to avert a risk of war.

Kissinger said the agreement would not apply to U.S. bombing operations in Cambodia since the Indochina conflict began before the understanding was reached. And yet, he added:

"As a general proposition it is not possible under this agreement for either side to use force in circumstances that can threaten international peace and stability without breaking the letter and spirit..."

Kissinger said the purpose of the pact was "to legalize and simplify restraint on the part of the two superpowers in their international law." He said the "original impetus" for the agreement came from Moscow, but "both parties made a substantially equal contribution."

He would not say specifically to which trouble spots, such as the Middle East, it would apply. But looking back, Kissinger said the agreement might have avoided the 1962 Cuban missile crisis and several crises over Berlin.

After the signing, Brezhnev told the assembled diplomats, government officials and congressmen that it was "a truly historic ceremony" and illustrates the consolidation of earlier steps taken toward lifting from the world the fear of nuclear war.

Vandals Disrupt Flag Display In Central Park

Wonder why the Central Park flagpole has been without the national banner the last two days? Vandalism is the answer.

A fire department spokesman said vandals have cut the cord on the flagpole several times in the last two weeks and firemen haven't been able to hoist the flag.

One night, the firemen said, the flag was found lying on the ground when the crew came to lower it.

The stars and stripes should be seen in the park today or tomorrow, however. A plastic sheathed cable was ordered, at a cost of $33, to discourage the yahoos responsible for the empty flagpole.

Former POW Files Misconduct Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — A high-ranking former prisoner of war, Navy Adm. James V. Stockdale, has filed misconduct charges against two other officers who were with him in North Vietnamese prison camps, Pentagon sources said Thursday night.

The two men, Marine Lt. Col. Edison Wainwright Miller of Tucson, Calif., and Navy Capt. Walter E. Wilber, of Columbia Cross Roads, Pa., are the first ex-POW officers to face such charges. Both are pilots.

The sources said Stockdale has mailed the formal charges from his home in Coronado, Calif., to the office of Navy Secretary John Warner. Details of the charges aren't expected to be known until they reach Washington.

Air Force Col. Theodore Guy on May 29 brought similar charges against enlisted men who were held in North Vietnam. Guy accused some of taking special favors and telling the North Vietnamese about the activities of their fellow prisoners.

Some critics of Guy's charges noted then that no officers were named for alleged misconduct.

Under policy laid down by former Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, the Pentagon itself is bringing no charges against any of the 566 returned POWs. Many POWs made anti-war broadcasts and statements, some of them after enduring torture at the hands of their captors.

But under the American system of military justice, any soldier may file charges against another serviceman. As in the case of the eight enlisted men, Pentagon officials must now decide if there is sufficient evidence to bring the charges before courts martial.

Miller, 41, was shot down over North Vietnam Oct. 13.

Paris Police Clash With Leftist Students

PARIS (UPI) — Riot police battled thousands of crash-helmeted leftist students Thursday night in the 93rd and most violent mass demonstration in Paris this year. Authorities said at least 76 policemen were injured.

Students armed with iron bars and tossing molotov cocktails fought for hours in the Latin Quarter with police who retaliated with tear gas volleys and club-swinging charges.

Officials said sixteen of the injured police were hospitalized, nine of them suffering burns, and 15 youths were arrested. Scores of demonstrators were injured, police said, but the exact number was not known.

Two police vans, a police bulldozer and six automobiles were set afire or damaged in the melee, witnesses said.

Triumph

Without the repair work of Conrad, Kerwin and Weitz, the space station, a key and essential element in the $2.6-billion Skylab program, would have been useless.

The troubles of Skylab began just 63 seconds after it was launched on May 14. As it left the Cape Kennedy, Fla., launch pad, an aluminum sun and meteorite shield ripped away.

Without the shield, the space station's naked hull baked in the sun and temperatures inside climbed above 125 degrees. As the shield shattered, it carried away one solar power panel wing and jammed the other. This cut the space station's power by more than half.

The launch of the astronauts was delayed 10 days while engineers fabricated a makeshift sun shade and Conrad, Kerwin and Weitz trained themselves to install it.

The astronauts were launched May 25 and quickly installed the parasol-like shade. Temperatures inside the space station dropped to the upper 70s.

Later, Conrad and Kerwin performed a daring space walk repair of the power wing. The astronauts cut debris jamming the wing and then used brute force to snap the solar panel into place. This restored sufficient power for a near normal mission for the remainder of Skylab 1, and also made possible the 56-day missions of Skylab 2 and 3, set to begin in July and in October.

BUDIG NAMED ISU PRESIDENT — DE KALB, Ill. (UPI) — Dr. Gene Budig, Illinois State University vice president and dean for the past year, was named Thursday to succeed David K. Berlo as the university's president.

Budig, 34, a former assistant to the governor of Nebraska, was appointed by the Board of Regents of State Universities to serve with full power for an unspecified period beginning July 1. The university meanwhile will consider candidates for a permanent president.

J. Robert Barr, chairman of the Board of Regents, said Budig's appointment would in no way jeopardize his right to consideration as permanent president.

EAST COAST BANKS BOOST PRIME RATE

NEW YORK (UPI) — A number of East Coast banks Thursday boosted their prime interest rate from 7 1/2 to 7 3/4 percent, following the lead of the First National Bank of Chicago, which made the move earlier in the week.

The prime rate is the interest charged by a bank to its top corporate buyers.

Those institutions hiking their rate included Chemical Bank of New York, Marine Midland Bank of New York, Franklin National Bank of New York, Harris Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago, Northern Trust Co. of Chicago, Continental Illinois Bank of Chicago, Philadelphia National Bank, Republic National Bank of Dallas and First National Bank of New Jersey.

Film Industry Reacts Sharply To Decision

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Disaster" ... "Denial of civil liberties" ... "A terrible throwback" ...

These were some of the reactions among film makers to the Supreme Court's decision granting more discretion to local courts and law agencies in determining what is considered obscene. Thursday's 5-4 decision was aimed at producers of pornography, but the film establishment fears that the ruling will hurt the industry as a whole.

Leaders of the three creative guilds — actors, directors, writers — foresaw immense troubles for the industry if local boards of censorship are established throughout the country. The court decided that obscenity could be judged on local, not national, standards.

Industry figures feared that dozens of versions of the same film would be required to satisfy local standards. Others believed the ruling would force film makers to be less adventuresome in dealing with censors.

"No matter what you call it, it's censorship," said director Mark Robson ("Peyton Place," "Valley of the Dolls").

"The decision is a denial of civil liberties. I hold no brief for hard-core porno, but I feel the individual should be given a freedom of choice that is very broad. Censorship of books and films could lead to censorship of social and political thought."

A spokesman for the Writers Guild of America commented: "We abhor the decision, but since it's the law of the land, we'll have to abide by it."

Chester L. Migden, national executive secretary of the Screen Actors Guild remarked: "We think the Supreme Court decision will pose very, very substantial and difficult problems for any industry such as ours which must distribute its product on a national basis. I can envision countless law suits as a result of this decision."

Producer-director Robert Aldrich ("The Dirty Dozen") termed the decision "a disaster." He placed the blame on the Producers Association for "not educating the public on the difference between X-rated and 'dirty'."

Said Aldrich: "The housewife in Chillicothe, Ill., can't tell the

WALKER-HARTIGAN AT ODDS AGAIN

SPRINGFIELD (UPI) — The long simmering ill feelings between Gov. Daniel Walker and Lt. Gov. Neil Hartigan surfaced once again Thursday during a House committee discussion of the Illinois Arts Council.

Hartigan won approval from the panel of a $1.2 million appropriation for the council, which the Walker administration unsuccessfully tried to cut to $497,000.

A spokesman for the Walker administration from the Bureau of the Budget unsuccessfully tried to get the appropriation reduced, arguing the amount Hartigan requested was double the budget the council had last year.

Hartigan said the money was needed because the council is an important vehicle in developing culture in the state.

"I don't know what Renaissance man in the administration asked that this budget be cut," he said, "but he must be just out of the Dark Ages."

He told the committee the Walker administration has previously tried to scuttle projects in which he has been involved. The two have been at odds since the campaign last year. Hartigan ran in the Democratic primary with Walker's rival, Paul Simon.

In other action Thursday, the Appropriations Committee approved $550,000 to provide an artificial turf for the University of Illinois football stadium. Meanwhile, the House Human Resources Committee approved 15-2, a Senate-passed bill that would prescribe guidelines for abortions during each three-month period of pregnancy.

The bill, an attempt to regulate abortion within the limits set down by the U.S. Supreme Court, would require that life support facilities be available when an abortion is performed after the first three months. After the first six months, an abortion would be permitted only if doctors decided the woman's mental or physical health were endangered.

Opponents of legalized abortion, who succeeded earlier this session in turning a similar bill into an outright ban on abortions, are uncertain how to react to the present bill.

Rep. Henry Hyde, R - Park Ridge, sponsored the earlier amendment but now says he is not inclined to try it again. "I'd hate to be the guy that blocks passage of any abortion regulation," he said Thursday.

difference between 'Deep Throat' and 'Midnight Cowboy.' The Code administration simply hasn't informed the public on the fact that the X-rating can be applied to distinguished films."

Director Robert Wise ("West Side Story," "The Sound of Music"), president of the Directors Guild of America, remarked: "I haven't read the entire decision, but it appears to be a

YOUR BIRTHDAY AND HOROSCOPE

SATURDAY, JUNE 23 — Born today, you are one of those fortunate persons whose great constancy is matched by certainty. Highly self-confident, determined, and absolute in your knowledge of what you want out of life, there is little of hesitancy in your nature and even less of timidity. Never at a loss for the "next move," you work according to a pre-conceived plan whenever possible — and when such a plan is not possible, you work according to the ancient rules of logic and common sense. Thus, even when you tread new ground, you do so in so reasonable a manner that success results.

Courteous, tactful, and, above all, friendly, you do not have it in you to take advantage of another person — not even when, by doing so, you could greatly benefit yourself. You enjoy the company of your fellows and though there are times when you benefit from being alone to think things through on your own, you are not really happy working or playing by yourself. You need the inspiration that an audience gives you — though that audience may be no more than your own family members.

You take criticism well, never resenting any that is constructive in nature, never constraining adverse conditions on your work as reflections upon you personally. Neither easily nor frequently discouraged, you know how to pick up the pieces of broken dreams and failed enterprises to begin again. Extremely tenacious, you overcome all moods, all emotional outbursts, and continue on your way without interruption.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Be careful when you come into close contact with family members. There may well be considerable plotting going on; try not to become involved.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — A question of expense causes discontent on the home front this morning. Allow children to have a say in what their next move will be.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Make a new friend this morning. Open your door and your heart to one who has little to give of a material nature — but who can swell your spiritual coffers.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Take the advice of one who's "been there." You may have to relinquish the limelight in order to get back to the "good life" — but it will be worth it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Make up your mind that you will not worry through an entire Sunday. Now is an excellent time to relax and go with whatever events occur.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — You will probably look back on this Sunday as one of the lucky days of your life. Try to remember, too, how much labor went into success!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Morning worship brings you into contact with new ideas destined to change your entire way of living — if you will allow them to.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — A favorable day for personal interests — if you can manage to keep them separate from career matters. Help others to come to a decision.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Confide the background of present circumstances to another. You may find that two heads are definitely better than one when it comes to solving problems.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Attend church services this morning. While doing so, you may well discover a new channel for your excess energy. Keep abreast of public opinion.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Though you may contemplate a change in employment, you would be wise not to mention it to anyone as yet. Be sure of your own goals first.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Changeableness is the trait that will serve you best today. Make sure you understand completely the importance of present goals — and the lack of same.

terrible blow against the basic constitutional rights of every individual.

Young Designers Discuss Fashion Philosophy

NEW YORK (AP) — The theme was elegance when 12 young designers gathered to talk fashion.

They were a quiet, sensible group, short on bold ideas but long on adaptability, nostalgia or smooth-looking commercial concepts.

They discussed their fashion philosophy Wednesday and showed fall clothes at a luncheon sponsored by the Wool Bureau, Inc., an organization for promotion and research in wool.

The audience was as interested in the rising wool prices—up 15 to 20 per cent—as they were in the styles.

However, some of the clothes were so nostalgic one viewer was prompted to ask: Why are you doing such old-looking clothes if you're supposed to be young designers?

"We think that glamour is important. Our contemporaries would like to have some of that back again. We love it. I don't see why we can't do it," said designer Pinky Wolman of Pretty Boy Floyd, who showed a slicked-up flannel tuxedo with top hat.

She added that her generation had never enjoyed the glamour of clothes done in previous decades.

Another designer who must have been inspired by the question was Jonathan Hitchcock of Hitchcock, Ltd., who showed an above-the-ankle skirt and pulled-down sweater. Several said they had done some longer skirts for fall.

There were several versions of the big Seventh Avenue trends: the wrap coat, the elegant day dress and the tweed pants suit.

"If we change things too quickly, we make it impossible for a woman to keep her wardrobe over a period of years," said Jane Janedis of Kelita, who featured a conservative green tweed pants suit.

"I think creativity is mostly in eliminating, paring it down and still having it look like something," said Scheck.

Designer Scott Barrie of Barrie Sport, Ltd., the best-known of the group, showed a full-skirted burgundy dress with yellow turban.

"Elegance is the way to define fashion.... Everyone's glad to welcome it back," he said.

Angelinos Seek Relief From 100-Degree Heat

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Beaches, mountains or the handy bathtub were foremost in thoughts of Los Angeles residents Thursday as the thermometer topped the 100-degree mark for the third straight day.

Spokesmen at resort areas reported large crowds on hand as downtown readings registered 103 at mid-afternoon Thursday. Wednesday's high was 106, the hottest day of the year.

Lifeguards said they were prepared for thousands of swimmers at local beaches, where temperatures ranging from the mid-90s to the mid-80s were forecast. Officials estimated that crowds of 180,000 were at South Bay beaches on Wednesday.

"We're filling up rapidly," a lifeguard spokesman said Thursday. "We have every available lifeguard working."

Forecasters blamed the continued warm weather on hot winds blowing into the Los Angeles area from Southern California deserts.

Fired Workers File Suit To Regain Jobs

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Six Republicans laid off by the Walker administration from jobs in the Illinois division of highways have asked a court for special status that might eventually force the state to rehire them.

Attorney O. Kenneth Thomas of Harvey, who filed the suit Wednesday in Circuit Court, said in a telephone interview that his goal is to get the six on the highway division's re-employment list rather than its eligible list.

Such an order, Thomas said, would force the agency to rehire them if it wishes to fill the posts left vacant by their ouster.

Thomas acknowledged that sections of the state personnel and civil service rules direct that the six should be placed on the eligible list, under which they would lose their seniority. All six were probationary workers and had not yet been admitted to full civil service status.

The suit asks the court to set aside the provisions that relegate the six to the eligible list.

Pollution Board Levies Fines Against Firms

CHICAGO (AP) — The Illinois Pollution Control Board voted Thursday to levy air pollution violation fines against two Illinois companies.

A board spokesman said the fines were $25,000 against the Laclede Steel Co. in Granite City and $10,000 against the Corn Products Corp. plant at Bedford Park.

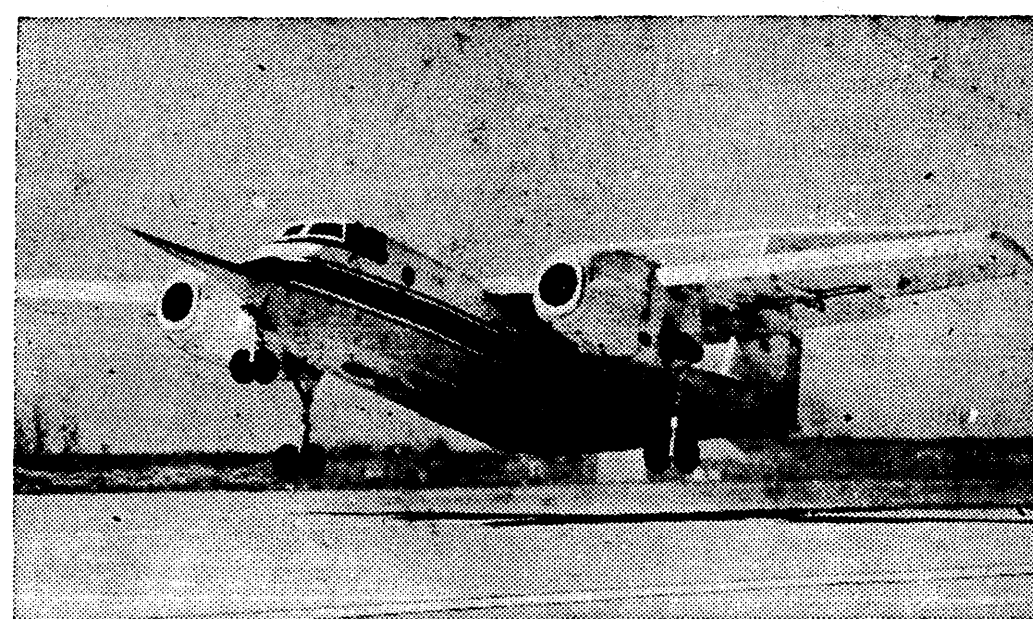

The spokesman said representatives of Laclede had testified at public hearings earlier that the company has begun a $4 million control program which would bring the plant into compliance with air quality standards within a year and a half.

It contends that the code and civil service rules deny probationary workers equal protection under the law, and therefore, are unconstitutional.

Thomas said the suit was filed on behalf of Paul S. Watson and Rodney Ray Matthews, highway maintenance equipment operators; Raymond Beggs, Ben Gates and Lessel O. Travers, highway maintenance men; and John Clark, a highway maintenance foreman. All live in Cook County.

The suit also asks the court to order the state to restore the men to their jobs and pay them lost salary. Named as defendants are Gov. Daniel Walker, personnel director Nolan Jones and other state officials.

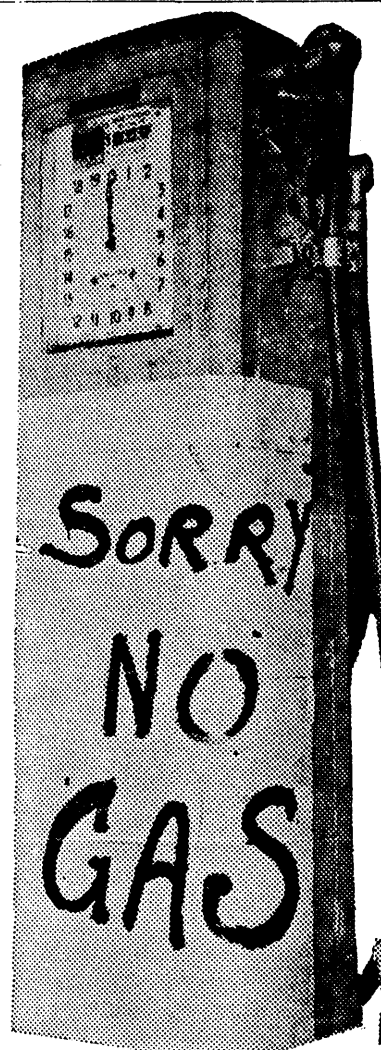

Warm ocean currents keep much of Norway's climate mild, despite latitudes equal to Alaska's. The temperature in Oslo seldom drops below 10 degrees F.

Gas shortage? So what else is new?

Warnings of an energy crisis might suggest to nostalgia buffs the years when the country faced a critical gas shortage because of the war effort. By 1942, most of the available gasoline was strictly rationed. Motorists (right) received alphabet stickers according to need and (bottom) ration card. And millions of bumper stickers (near bottom) were also distributed. Will it happen again?

Fezler Sweeps Lead In American

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Forrest Fezler, victim of a heart-breaking loss earlier this season, fashioned a five-under-par 65 and swept into sole control of the second round lead Friday in the $160,000 American Golf Classic.

The stubby, 23-year-old Fezler didn't have a bogey in the first 36 holes as he put together a two-round total of 132, eight under par on the 7,180-yard Firestone Country Club course.

Fezler, who lost to Lee Trevino in the nationally televised final round of the Jackie Gleason Classic earlier this season, owned a four-stroke lead over defending champion Bert Yancey, who also had a 65 and a 16 total for two rounds.

Newly crowned U.S. Open champion Johnny Miller, tied with Fezler at the end of the first day's play, matched par 70 on the long, lush layout and was tied at 17 with Australian Bruce Crampton.

The group at 138—two under par but a distant six strokes back of Fezler—included former PGA champion Al Geiberger, Lanny Wadkins, John Mahaffey and Ed Sneed. Wadkins and Mahaffey matched 67s in the warm, sunny weather while Sneed and Geiberger had 68s.

Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer were in a group at 19. Nicklaus had a 70 and Palmer slipped to 71.

Players May Laugh At Kuhn Directive

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bowie Kuhn may be the commissioner of baseball, but he still has a little to learn about ballplayers.

Basically, as Roy Campanella once pointed out, they're all kids at heart, and you know how most kids feel about being told to do anything.

Generally, they run right out and do exactly the opposite.

This being the case, I think the only thing Bowie Kuhn is doing with this latest directive of his to the major league clubs is wasting time, energy and telegraph tolls because nobody is going to pay any attention to it.

The directive is the result of a story quoting various National League pitchers saying if they get the opportunity to serve up Hank Aaron's 715th home run, Babe Ruth's record-breaker, they'll "lay the ball right in there."

Among those quoted as saying they wouldn't mind Aaron breaking the record at their expense were Andy Messersmith and Pete Richert of the Dodgers, Reggie Cleveland of the Cardinals, Larry Dierker of the Astros and Tug McGraw and Phil Hennigan of the Mets.

The Reasons they Offered
The reasons they offered were, typically, immature and kiddish.

A couple of them wanted to do it for the "fame," a few for the "money" and the rest merely for the "hell of it."

Bowie Kuhn was disturbed when the story was brought to his attention. He doesn't want anybody grooving a pitch for Henry Aaron and "tarnishing" his achievement. He cited Rule 21 which says every player must give his best efforts toward winning any game in which he is involved and to do otherwise invites long-term suspension.

What Bowie Kuhn really is doing is belaboring the obvious a little and what these pitchers are doing is making themselves suspect before they even commit the crime.

The directive makes me laugh, knowing ballplayers. They're going to laugh at it, too.

One pitcher in Des Moines probably is laughing already.

When Mickey Mantle was on the way out, Denny McLain purposely grooved a ball for him so he could hit it out of the park. McLain told a few people about what he had done, but he didn't fool Mantle, who knew he had laid it up there big as a grapefruit for him.

Done More than Once

The same thing has been done more than once, for Babe Ruth, Jimmie Foxx, Hank Greenberg and who knows how many others, but that doesn't mean baseball is crooked any more than it means a jockey is any time he decides to let another horse get through.

Who knows what runs through pitchers' minds?

Who is it to say that a pitcher can't get himself out of trouble once in a blue moon by purposely grooving a pitch. It's happened many times, although not regarded as the thing to do.

Ever watch batting practice? Players frequently take some of the routine out of it by playing a game known as "base hit."

If they hit a ball that would be a hit in a regular game, they stay in the cage and keep hitting; if they make out, they leave. The point here is the ball is being laid up there on a platter for them and how many times do they get a hit? Not anywhere near as often as they make out.

That's what makes me laugh about Bowie Kuhn's directive.

Those pitchers who say they're going to lay it in there for Aaron to hit aren't so bright either.

Wasn't Particularly Proud
Tom Zachary, the Washington lefty who served up Babe Ruth's record 60th home run in 1927, never was particularly proud of his "accomplishment," and Guy Bush, with Pittsburgh then, didn't go around advertising the fact he gave up Ruth's 713th and 714th homers eight years later.

Maybe even Bowie Kuhn would laugh if he knew about an episode involving a pair of catchers, Frank Mancuso of the St. Louis Browns and Mike Garbark of the New York Yankees 28 years ago.

Garbark was in a terrible slump, something like 0-for-35, and with the Browns leading the Yankees, 8-0, in the sixth inning, he came up to hit.

Garbark knew Mancuso was honestly trying to help him.

The ball came in, big as a balloon, and Mike Garbark gave it everything he had.

You guessed it—popped the ball straight up to shortstop.

Drafke Wins Ninth State Golf Title

URBANA, Ill. (AP) — Lois Drafke of La Grange walloped Mrs. Mary Jones of Manomet 7-5 Friday to win her ninth Illinois Women's Amateur Golf Championship.

Miss Drafke, who last won the title in 1970, grabbed a 6-up lead as her opponent won only one hole in the morning round at the Urbana Country Club course.

In the afternoon windup, Mrs. Jones, a mother of four children ranging in age from 23 to 15, was 8 down after 10 holes. She won the next two with pars.

Miss Drafke closed out the match on the 13th, or 31st hole, with a regulation 3 as Mrs. Jones three putted for a 4.

Neither finalist was sharp. Mrs. Jones was 19 over par for the distance and the champion was 12 over.

AKRON, OHIO: Forrest Fezler, of Indian Wells, Calif., uses body english on the eighth hole as he missed put for a bird during second round of American Golf Classic at Firestone Country Club. Fezler took second round lead with eight-under-par 132 for 36 holes. (UPI Telephoto)

Mays And Milner Sink Pirates 5-4

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Willie Mays slugged a three-run double in the second inning and John Milner followed with his ninth home run of the season to power the New York Mets to a 5-4 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Friday night.

A leadoff single by Jim Fregosi, a walk to Ron Hodges and an infield hit by pitcher George Stone, 3-2, set up Mays' bases-clearing shot to right-center field off Steve Blass, 3-5. Two outs later, Milner homered into the right field seats.

The victory snapped the Mets' four-game losing spin and kept the Pirates last in the National League East.

West Choice In Coaches Grid Game

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — The West, blessed with a talented group of players including five from national champion Southern California, ranked a tough Saturday night's 13th annual coaches All-America football game.

East Coach Ralph "Shug" Jordan of Auburn said: "I hate to put the hat on any coach, but John McKay ought to be favored in this game. He's got some of his own players and then gets to pick from Oklahoma, Texas and Nebraska. I'd say to make the West the favorite would be a step in the right direction."

McKay, the West mentor from Southern California, dodged Jordan's needle and said: "I've been in a lot of these all-star games and one thing I know for sure is that I never know who's going to win. The team that is the underdog always seems to want to play harder and to try and prove the so-called experts wrong."

Such was the case last year when the underdog East routed the West 42-20 to tie the series at six games apiece.

McKay is keeping his starting lineup to himself, saying, "Honestly, I probably won't decide anything until about 7 p.m. Saturday. In an all-star game like this, I don't prefer to pick out anyone ahead of time. It will all depend on how I feel Saturday night."

The 8:30 p.m. EDT kickoff will be televised nationally and some 45,000 fans will be looking on in Jones Stadium.

McKay will choose his starting quarterback from the duo of Dan Fouts of Oregon and Ty Paine of Washington State.

Jordan will have quarterbacks Terry Davis of Alabama and Don Strock of Virginia Tech at the controls. Davis, who ran the triple option successfully at Alabama, will get the starting call.

TWINBILL RAISED OUT
BOSTON (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles and the Boston Red Sox were rained out of a scheduled two-night doubleheader Friday at Fenway Park. The first game was rescheduled as part of a two-night doubleheader Saturday. The other game will be made up later in the season.

Murcer's Double Boosts Yankees To 5-4 Decision

NEW YORK (AP) — Bobby Murcer's two-run double cap-counter-rally in the seventh inning lifted the streaking Yankees to a 5-4 victory over the Detroit Tigers Friday night.

The Tigers pounded Fritz Peterson and relief ace Sparky Lyle for four runs in the top of the seventh but Thurman Munson opened the Yankees' half with his ninth home run of the season, cutting the lead to 4-3 and chasing Jim Perry.

Fred Scherman allowed a one-out single to Horace Clarke and a two-out hit to Matty Alou before Murcer doubled to deep left-center for the runs that sealed the Yankees' fifth victory in a row and Detroit's fourth straight setback.

Cleveland 3-Hitter Blanks Chicago 3-0

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Consecutive doubles by Ted Simmons and Bernie Carbo touched off a three-run fifth inning that lifted the St. Louis Cardinals to a 3-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs Friday night behind Reggie Cleveland's three-hit pitching.

Limited to one hit through four innings, the Cardinals erupted after Burt Hooton, 7-4, retired Joe Torre to open the fifth. The doubles by Simmons and Carbo produced the first run but Carbo was cut down at the plate trying to score on Jim Dwyer's single.

Dwyer took second on the throw and Hooton purposely walked Mick Kelleher to get at Cleveland. But the pitcher singled to load the bases and set up Lou Brock's two-run single.

Cleveland, 7-5, permitted just one runner to reach second base. Jose Cardenal singled with one out in the fifth and moved up on an infield out. However, Cleveland escaped by issuing an intentional walk to Don Kessinger and retiring Hooton on a grounder.

A crowd of 34,973, the Cards' largest of the season, looked on as St. Louis took a 4-2 lead in the season series with the leaders in the National League's East Division. The third-place Cards are six games out.

Brock reached Hooton for a leadoff single in the first inning but was picked off. Torre, who reached on a walk in the second, was the only other baserunner until the fifth-inning outburst.

Bitterness Builds Among Tennis Stars

LONDON (AP) — Bookies made Ilie Nastase of Romania a 1-2 favorite Friday to win Wimbledon after 67 of the world's leading stars walked out of the tournament which begins Monday.

The All-England Club went ahead with a full draw of 128 players in the men's singles, filling the gaps by throwing into the hopper those from the qualifying competition.

Parts of the list had a second-rate look. Many of the men competing are unknown to British fans.

Bitterness began building up among the players after the Association of Tennis Professionals had confirmed the boycott to protest the ouster of Niki Pilic of Yugoslavia.

Four ATP members—Nastase, Roger Taylor of Britain and South Africans Bob Maud and Byron Bertram—defied the association and told Wimbledon officials they would play.

Jack Kramer, executive director of ATP, announced that all four would have to appear before a disciplinary committee of the Association. The committee is headed by American Stan Smith, reigning Wimbledon champion who is a member of the ATP executive board and is himself one of the players boycotting the prestigious grass court event.

Nastase, who is staying with his wife, Dominique, in a hotel occupied entirely by ATP players, said he would check out and move to another hotel.

"The atmosphere is very unpleasant," Nastase said.

ATP planned the boycott in sympathy with Pilic, who was suspended because he refused to play for Yugoslavia in the Davis Cup.

Wimbledon originally drew up a list of 16 seeds. After the walkout only three of them—Nastase, Taylor and Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia—were left.

Only eight players were seeded in the revised draw: 1, Nastase. 2, Kodes. 3, Taylor. 4, Alex Metreveli, Russia. 5, Jim Connors, Belleville, Ill. 6, Bjorn Borg, Sweden. 7, Owen Davidson, Australia. 8, Juergen Fassbender, West Germany.

The women's singles is unaffected by the boycott. Margaret Court of Australia, seeking her second Grand Slam, is top seed with the defending champion, American Billie Jean King, No. 2.

Wood Tops Vote For May Hickok

NEW YORK (AP) — Wilbur Wood, the Chicago White Sox knuckleballer who was credited with two victories on May 28, topped the May balloting for the 24th annual S. Rae Hickok Professional Athlete of the Year award.

Wood, who scored nine victories last month, received 101 first place votes for 372 points in the voting, with Triple Crown winner Secretariat's jockey, Ron Turcotte, a distant second, 255 points behind.

Center Willis Reed of the National Basketball Association champion New York Knicks, teammate Walt Frazier, Indy 500 winner Gordon Johncock, tennis pro Stan Smith, Montreal Canadiens star Yvan Cournoyer, California Angels pitcher Nolan Ryan, Knicks forward Bill Bradley and golf pro Tom Weiskopf followed in that order.

Wood joins previous monthly winners George Foreman, Arnold Palmer, Ken Norton, and Tommy Aaron.

Players To Fight Drug Abuse Test

CHICAGO (AP) — President John Mackey said Friday night that the National Football League Players Association will fight any attempt by the owners to institute a urine analysis test to deter alleged drug abuse by the players.

After meeting nearly five hours with NFL player representatives, Mackey said, "We're not going to stand for ballplayers being treated like animals."

The 26 player representatives and the association executive committee will meet again Saturday morning to take a formal position before listening to pro football commissioner Pete Rozelle.

"We gave up all the rights we intend to give up when the merger between the NFL and the AFL went through," said Mackey, a tight end with the San Diego Chargers.

Mackey said the drug issue was discussed in great detail at the closed meeting and "we don't even know if there is a problem."

"Whatever problem there is has been created by management," he continued. "If players have been taking amphetamines, the pills have been given by trainers and physicians."

Mackey said in an interview after the meeting: "We don't know what answers we'll get, but we're going to ask some tough questions."

He referred to the Saturday morning meeting with Rozelle which was scheduled before The Associated Press disclosed last week that a Congressional committee recommended that the NFL use a urine analysis.

Mackey said even though no formal vote was taken at the players meeting Friday, the consensus was opposed to the urine test and other proposals by the House Commerce Investigations Subcommittee.

"We know there will be no urine tests," he said. "We want to know more about the program he will present to the owners Monday. He says it will be the strongest ever and we want to see what it is."

"The next thing you know, they'll be putting us on the block and the owners will be looking at our teeth before a trade is made, just like a horse."

"If they put in a urine test, they'll find out that they won't have enough players to play a game," said Mackey.

ALL YOU GOT TO DO IS ASK
Murray Olderman

The Tipoff:
The Houston Ridge case, which was settled for $260,000 plus $65,000 in medical expenses, for alleged drug abuse by the San Diego Chargers, has league-wide implications. Otherwise, why would the NFL be sharing most of the financial load, by assessing each of the teams in the league, instead of making the Chargers pay up?

Q — Who is the highest paid player in Yankee history? I've heard it was Joe DiMaggio?
— Roger Dougherty, Lancaster, Pa.

A — DiMag got the highest paid contract up to his time — he was the first $100,000 player. But Mickey Mantle matched that later. Neither, however, got above 100 grand, and now Bobby Murcer, who maintains the line of succession in center field, has reached that plateau and next year will surely become the richest Yankee ever (for a season).

Q — Why did Bill Russell wait till now to put the blast on Boston for racial prejudice?
I mean, I thought he had it pretty good in the land of cod. — Sal Colombo, Quincy, Mass.

A — I agree that his blast was poorly timed, especially since it came just before he was hit with a tax lien on his Boston home. The subject has been a Russell favorite in his campus lectures for several years but Bill didn't suffer as he was color blind socially when he lived there.

Q — How can Joe Namath live like he does and still play football, and I'm not talking about the danger to his knees? — Eric Anderson, Morristown, N.J.

A — You would have an affinity for the ladies of the evening and night life in general if you were 30, single, rich and had Hungarian green eyes. There's nothing unique about Joe's lifestyle under the circumstances. He just gets more publicity than the other guys. Actually, he's not a very complex or mysterious person. He's interested in three things in scrambled order, depending upon the game situation — booze, babes and football. Any guy who goes to Italy to make a movie, like Joe did, and complains about the food and the lack of women can't be all wild.

Q — My Legion post has been trying for two years to find out the answers to the following questions about Elroy (Crazy Legs) Hirsch: state and town he was born in, high school attended, college or university attended. — William LaDouceur, Willows, Calif.

A — No mystery about old Crazy Legs. He's a native of Wausau, Wis., went to high school there and then on to the University of Wisconsin, where he first made All-American. But a service program during World War II shifted him to the University of Michigan, where he was also an All-American. Now after pro ball, and a hitch in as a pro football executive, he's back in residence in Wisconsin as athletic director at his original university.

'Nasty' In Middle Of Tennis Crisis

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ilie Nastase, the incorrigible, unpredictable Romanian, has to be the Eddie Stanky of international tennis.

Or maybe the Pete Rose. On the court, he's like a man possessed, one who'll do anything he can think of to beat you.

Anything, with Ilie Nastase, takes in turning his back precisely at that moment his opponent is about to serve, employing other patently questionable forms of gamesmanship and continually bickering with the linesmen.

Off the court, he's something else. He's so nice and polite, butter wouldn't melt in his mouth.

At the moment, the talented young man most of his fellow players call "Nasty," and not solely because they are having trouble pronouncing his family name either, finds himself smack in the middle of the burgeoning crisis at Wimbledon.

As a member of the Association of Tennis Professionals, Nastase originally responded to that group's strike call by withdrawing from next week's Wimbledon competition.

He Got Another Call

Then he got another call. This one was from the Romanian National Association in Bucharest.

The gist of the conversation, mostly one-sided, was something like "Ilie, my dear comrade, have you ever sat down after one of your superlative matches and given a moment's thought on which side your bread is buttered?"

Nastase gave it a moment's thought right then and there. He must have certainly realized that although he comes from a Communist country, he is still a citizen there, he is permitted to maintain a home in Belgium and play tennis anywhere in the world he likes.

The Romanian National Association's message pertaining to his participation at Wimbledon suddenly became clear to Ilie Nastase.

"I will play," he announced. In the eyes of Marvin Miller, this announcement makes Nastase "a scab."

Secretariat To Run For The People

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretariat, thoroughbred racing's superhorse, will race in Chicago June 30 for the people, trainer Lucien Laurin said Thursday.

"We're not going for the money but to insure that as many people see the horse as possible," Laurin said about the decision to race Secretariat in the $25,000 match race, with $75,000 to the winner, at Arlington Park.

"We didn't suggest what the money should be, they (the track) took care of that," Laurin said. "We want the public to see him." "I think Mrs. Tweedy is a wonderful sport to do this," Laurin said referring to Helen Tweedy, the operator of Meadow Stable, owner of the Triple Crown winner who will leave racing by Nov. 15 to go to stud under a world record $6.08-million syndication.

Secretariat, who stirred the nation with his nationally televised performances in the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes, again will be seen by a nationwide audience while giving Midwesterners their first opportunity to see him in person. ABC-TV will carry the race live on its Saturday Wide World of Sports program scheduled for 5-6:30 p.m. EDT.

Laurin said Secretariat will go to Chicago next Thursday for the race in which he will meet Our Native and probably Blue Chip Dan.

Blue Chip Dan would be a substitute for Linda's Chief, winner of the Pontiac Grand Prix at Arlington in which Blue Chip Dan finished second.

Neil Hellman, owner of Linda's Chief, said Wednesday night in Albany, N.Y., "We will not race him at a mile and an eighth. We feel that a mile and a sixteenth is better distance for him. My feeling is that he shouldn't run. And I spoke to my trainer and his feeling is that he shouldn't run, too."

Laurin said he wouldn't race Secretariat at less than 1 1/4 miles, pointing out that he ran at 1 1/4 miles in the Derby, 1 3/16 in the Preakness and 1 1/2 in the Belmont.

"I can't go backward with him," Laurin said. "I have to take care of the horse."

What does Marvin Miller have to do with all this fuss?

Simply this: More Than Passing Interest

As executive director of the Major League Baseball Players' Association and the man who was a key figure in one of the most publicized strikes in the history of sports last year, Marvin Miller has more than a passing interest in any labor action or boycott such as has been called by the ATP against Wimbledon.

Moreover, Marvin Miller loves tennis, plays it and follows it closely. He isn't afraid to offer his views on what's going on now in London either. Naturally, he's on the side of the players, but not players like Nastase.

"For a long time," he says, "the existing tennis bodies, both national and international, have attempted to run the game along dictatorial lines. I think that the forming of the ATP is one of the most constructive things that has been done, and I also think the unified support it is giving to a player (Yugoslavia's Niki Pilic) who has been unfairly barred from Wimbledon is very gratifying and healthy."

"However, I am appalled that an Ilie Nastase has proved to be a scab."

Should be Boycotted

"I think that if he or any other individual player deserts the whole body of players by competing at Wimbledon, all the rest of the players ought to boycott any tournament in which Nastase plays in the future. Personally, I wouldn't pay money to watch Nastase play if he goes through with his intention of becoming a scab."

"I'm also appalled at some of the women players who don't seem to understand what's involved. That includes Chris Evert, Evonne Goolagong and Virginia Wade. They've made some stupid statements. Goolagong says she'd play for nothing. If she's an amateur, why is she accepting money? And if she's a professional, why is she talking like an amateur?"

I do want to compliment Billie Jean King, who I think has great sense and great courage.

Marvin Miller naturally would relate to Billie Jean, who, upon hearing of the ATP boycott, called women players together. She urged them to unite and demand a bigger share of the money because with the top men on the sidelines, they suddenly would become the stars.

No Other Choice

I can't go along with Marvin Miller entirely in his thinking about Ilie Nastase because I feel the Romanian had no other choice after he got that call from his National Tennis Association.

"What would you do if you got a call from your country, telling you to play?" I asked Miller.

"Who said it's his country," he put in. "The call came from a tennis federation."

That's really splitting hairs. In countries like Romania, the heads of sports ministries invariably are government appointees, and when they talk, you can be pretty sure it's the government talking.

"The government is not going to order him (Nastase) to play at Wimbledon," says Marvin Miller.

Oh no? The Brazilian government stepped in and stopped the sale of soccer star Pele once to Italy, so what possibly would stop the Romanian government from picking up the phone and putting a little bug in Ilie Nastase's ear?

Veek Shows Interest In Balmoral Track

CHICAGO (AP) — Bill Veek, former owner of the Chicago White Sox and president of Suffolk Downs near Boston, expressed interest Friday in buying the Balmoral track in Crete and its two racing associations if a deal with Edward J. De Bartolo falls through.

De Bartolo, Youngstown, Ohio, millionaire who owns Thistle Downs in Cleveland, has offered Miller $8.6 million for the Balmoral properties contingent on getting specified racing dates. Deadline for the transaction is June 29.

Racing dates originally granted to Miller were revoked by the racing board because of Miller's involvement with former Gov. Otto Kern in a race track stock scandal. The board still is studying allotment of Balmoral dates—87 days in all—and at least 10 associations or individuals are seeking them.

Fishing With The 'Bass Ladies' At Beautiful Otter Lake

By MARY REED
Editorial Department

Last Saturday I accompanied Jim Hall to the Jacksonville Bass Club Wives Tournament at Otter Lake. It was a thorough and pleasant introduction to a new sport for me despite the prizewinning sunburn I acquired. At this tournament the bass men brought their wives along, and it was a pleasure to meet a group of women who seemed to enjoy getting out in the sun and on the lake, trying for that elusive big one, as much as I do. For them, however, this was no first trip in a bass boat. Several of them caught bass. Jim and I boated one nice big bass, and lost one real monster in a brush pile. I learned quite a lot about elusive bass, beautiful Otter Lake, the price of lures, and the credibility gap of fishermen.

The wives who fished were Mrs. Charles (Charlotte) Brown, Jacksonville, Mrs. Bob (Jean) McDonald, Jacksonville; Mrs. Mike (Vicki) Webster, Beardstown; Mrs. Doug (Marty) Hohimer of Springfield; Mrs. Jim (Pat) Power, Sunset Lake; and Mrs. Roger (Janice) Henderson, Modesto.

Mary Reed, Editorial Staff

Participation by both men and women was enthusiastic, but the hot day wore on without the weather and luck to make a really successful tournament for everyone. By the end of the day several people had caught a few bass. We observed Jean McDonald taking a little snooze, but perhaps it was well deserved. She and Bob brought in the winning stringer of eight bass. Vicki Webster caught a four-pound bass which won the largest bass trophy, and also brought in a beautiful sunburn.

My personal goal was to learn as much as I could about bass fishing in one day. Thanks to Jim Hall, I have a much better understanding of the sport of bass fishing with artificial lures. I am in fact intrigued by the lures themselves, more so than the fish were Saturday. I was introduced to the hula popper, various fish-like lures and the big O which to me resembles nothing more than a duck-billed platypus.

It was a beautiful, well-spent day for me, and I didn't see one person who didn't have something to smile about as we left, even if it was about a Jim Hall style fishin' fib.

Use Subsurface Lures On Bright Sunny Days

By JIM HALL, Outdoor Writer

Jim Hall and Clark Heinzman with Otter Lake bass caught on Mud Bug subsurface lures. Clark had one bass that weighed 5 lbs.

Sometimes, on bright sunny days you have to fish deep to find the bass. Bottom scratcher lures such as the Burke Big Digs, Heddon River Runt, Heddon Tadpolly, Devils Horse Rooter, Mudbugs, Rebel Deep, Bombers, Rappala Countdown, and the Hellbender work good when the bass are holding in deeper water.

A very popular deep runner in this area is the Burke Black Dance Big Dig. Local bass man Bob Hunt caught over 100 bass out of Lake Jacksonville last year on this lure. Most of these lures are almost snagproof when retrieved slowly, but Bob Hunt fishes his lure fast.

When fishing in eight to ten feet of water, make as long a cast as possible. Retrieve fast until the lure hits bottom, then work the lure slowly. Let it crawl through the brush and underwater obstacles. When a bass strikes (it could feel like a slight bump) set the hook hard, and reel him up as fast as you can to clear him from the brush.

Fish these subsurface lures in old channels, deep holes, off points, and shoreline drop-offs. Find a likely looking log or brush top and make at least five or six casts into it, then again from different angles.

Another technique is to fish these lures fast, pausing every six feet, then repeating the action many, many times. A lot of times old Mr. Bass will take the lure when it starts floating up toward the surface.

Try some subsurface lures on bright sunny days and you'll put some bass on your stringer.

Lake Jacksonville Priorities

The Save the Lake Committee met last Thursday night to determine the top priorities in their effort to save Lake Jacksonville.

It was decided that 50,000 tons of rock rip rap are needed to stop shoreline erosion at Lake Jacksonville. The committee wants money for this project to come from federal revenue sharing funds.

The committee would like to see enforcement of all laws at Lake Jacksonville. A water patrol boat should be on hand at the lake at all times operated by a trained police officer.

Committee member Carl Bourn stated he will bring these priorities to the attention of Mayor Milt Hocking.

Gov. Walker Denies Exceeding Budget

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Walker administration denied Friday charges by Senate President William C. Harris that it had exceeded its $7.4 billion "barebones budget" for 1974 with requests for $305 million in capital bond funds and $40 million in direct appropriations.

In a statement, budget director Hal Hovey declared that it was Harris and his Senate Republicans and not the administration who were guilty of "budget busting."

Hovey attacked Republican-sponsored bills that "go far beyond the budget in such areas as highway building, elementary and secondary education, higher education, transportation and other areas."

The budget director also said that Harris' announced plan to stay within expected revenues when approving appropriations except in the areas of funding public employee pensions and flood control was "very sporting of him" but unconstitutional.

He listed nine bills introduced by Harris and his colleagues that, he said, exceeded Gov. Daniel Walker's 1974 budget.

In answer to the Harris charges, Hovey said that "the current plan" on capital bonds "is to issue $5 million more in bonds than originally contemplated, not $305 million."

Hovey said that the administration did have a contingency plan to pay $40 million not in the budget for construction in 1974. But that would only happen, he added, if an equal sum that was already appropriated for spending in 1973 were not used this year.

At a news conference earlier, Harris had attacked Walker's budget cuts as "fictional" but added sarcastically that he would help "the governor keep his campaign promises and rhetoric."

"Today," Harris said, "his agencies are bombarding the General Assembly with amendments which would increase spending both in the areas of ongoing services and capital projects."

News Shield Bills Defeated In Senate

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois Senate defeated Thursday two bills to shield newsmen from being required by governmental bodies to reveal their sources of information.

Opposing senators gave as reasons their fear of an "irresponsible press" or the fear that if government began to grant licenses it could control the news media.

One bill, sponsored by Sen. Bradley Glass, R-Northfield, was defeated 22-15.

The other, co-sponsored by Senate President William C. Harris, R-Pontiac, and Minority Leader Cecil A. Partee, D-Chicago, was beaten 21-18.

The action leaves as the only shield for Illinois newsmen the present law which allows a judge to order a newsmen to disclose the source of his story if the judge deems a compelling public need.

Harris urged passage of the measures, declaring: "News sources are drying up."

His bill, sponsored in the House by Rep. Arthur Berman, D-Chicago, said newsmen would have absolute immunity, except in libel and slander cases, from forced disclosure of information before any judicial, legislative, or administrative body, or any other body having subpoena powers.

It would also have protected the confidentiality of newsmen's work products, including notes, tapes and films.

Under the other bill, sponsored in the House by Rep. John Porter, R-Evanston, newsmen would have had less protection. A court could have set aside the shield if the information was deemed necessary in a felony trial.

The immunity would have been guaranteed even then, however, if the charges were bribery, failure to report a bribe, official misconduct or other crimes arising out of public duty.

Statewide Grand Jury Bill On House Floor

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A proposal to create a statewide grand jury under supervision of the attorney general was sent to the House floor Friday with a committee recommendation of approval.

The bill would allow the attorney general to prosecute crimes which affect more than one county.

"It's an important measure because we are using the big guns to go after big-time criminal activity," said Rep. Robert Day, R-Peoria, House sponsor of the Senate-passed bill.

The favorable vote by the Illinois House Executive Committee was 22-2.

"The crime syndicate is already moving into Carbondale," said Atty. Gen. William J. Scott who testified in its favor. "... to talk about the Jackson County State's attorney having the power to do something about it is unrealistic."

Reps. James T. Londrigan, D-Springfield, and Robert Mann, D-Chicago, voted against the proposal. Londrigan warned such a panel could be used for "political purposes" and Mann said the bill comes at an unfortunate time when he said the grand jury system is being questioned in legal circles.

lic employment. Some senators used the occasion to vent antagonism toward the news media. Others criticized the bills as no favor to newsmen.

"As long as you are going to be irresponsible," Sen. Charles Chew, D-Chicago, said to the press boxes in the Senate, "I'm going to try to defeat a shield bill. It puts newsmen in a class by themselves."

"Once this legislature recognizes its authority to tell newsmen what to do, look out," Sen. Hudson Sours, R-Peoria, said. "Once we prescribe, we can also proscribe. What this legislature gives, gentlemen of the press, it can withdraw, it can modify, it can finagle."

Charges Fly Between Wings Of Peronists

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — The division in the Peronist movement sharpened Friday with radicals and moderates accusing each other of setting off the gunfighting that upset the homecoming of their leader, Juan D. Peron.

About 3,000 members of the left-wing Peronist Youth Movement occupied their party's main headquarters early in the day for the wake of one of their number killed in Wednesday's "un battles."

They issued a communique charging that "union thugs" were responsible for provoking the violence and making clear that they considered centrist union leaders as their main adversaries.

At least 20 persons were reported killed and more than 300 were wounded when rival gangs battled through a terrified crowd, estimated at two million, near Ezeiza International Airport to welcome Peron back from Spain. But the newspaper La Nacion said hospital records in the zone showed 34 dead and 342 wounded.

The shootings forced Peron to cancel a scheduled appearance at the rally, but he went on nationwide television Thursday night and appealed for "peaceful reconstruction without costing the life of a single Argentine."

Students In Chile Protest Allende Regime

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — More than 150,000 school and university students cut classes Friday to protest policies of the Marxist-led government and to demonstrate support for 12,000 copper miners on strike for nearly two months over wages.

The student protest followed strikes, bombings and riots Thursday by both foes and supporters of President Salvador Allende's leftist administration. At least 24 persons were injured. The strikes affected half of Chile's 10 million people, but calm settled over the country in general on Friday.

About 50,000 public high school pupils were away from classes in Santiago in sympathy with workers of El Teniente, the world's largest copper mine.

A majority of El Teniente's workers walked off the job to demand 41 per cent wage increases to offset inflation. The strikes forced the government, which owns the mine, to suspend June copper shipments to its principal customers in Western Europe.

The mine produces approximately a third of Chile's copper, the mainstay of the nation's economy.

SPRINGFIELD — Gov. Daniel Walker calls House Speaker Robert Blair's tax relief and regional transportation system plan "devious, sleight-of-hand trickery." Friday as the House passed the bill 107-53. According to the governor, Blair's plan would cost the state $166 million. (UPI Photo)

House Panel Approves Four Year Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A comprehensive four-year farm bill lowering the subsidy payment ceiling while setting target prices for three basic crops was approved by the House Agriculture Committee Thursday.

The 61-page bill, covering everything from wool and beekeeping to food stamps and rural fire departments, cleared the committee 31 to 4 with Rep. William C. Wampler, R-Va., voting "present."

Reps. Charles M. Teague, of California, the senior GOP member of the panel; George A. Goodling, R-Pa.; Paul Findley, R-Ill.; and Lamar Baker, R-Tenn., cast the votes against the legislation.

Chairman W. R. Poage, D-Tex., said "I think we've got a good chance of passing it," and told reporters he hopes to get floor action on the bill started during the second week of July.

With the Nixon administration objecting to figures in the bill, Poage said it faces a veto threat in its present form. Of a showdown with the President, he said: "I think there will be a whole lot of head-scratching down there before there is any veto."

The legislation would drop the current $55,000 per crop annual subsidy payment ceiling to $37,500 per crop. A Senate-passed version of the bill would put a $20,000 annual subsidy limit on each farmer—an approach already taken by the House in a separate bill, covering Agriculture Department funds.

Findley said he would press again for this $20,000 level. Under the House committee's bill, basically similar to the Senate-passed measure in concept but sharply different in figures, the current 1970 law which expires Dec. 31 would be changed by setting up a so-called target price of supports under cotton, wheat and feed grains such as corn and grain sorghums.

As long as existing relationships between farm prices and crop production costs continue, this would mean an elimination of crop subsidies—currently running about $3.5 billion a year. If prices farmers get should drop sharply while production costs go up or remain unchanged, then they would get subsidy payments.

Under the House committee-approved language, target prices for the first year of the legislation would be $2.05 a bushel for wheat, $1.38 a bushel for corn and 38 cents a pound for cotton. Under the five-year Senate-passed plan, the figures are $2.28 for wheat, $1.53 for corn and 43 cents for cotton.

Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz said guaranteed prices above $1.84 for wheat, $1.26 for corn and 35 cents for cotton, with the agreed escalation reflecting higher costs per unit of output, are unacceptable to the Nixon administration.

Butz said he would "work aggressively to defeat the measure" in the House as long as the bill's figures are above these levels.

The legislation would continue food stamp and food-for-peace programs; repeal the wheat certificate—the so-called bread tax—and extend wool and dairy programs. It also would extend the beekeeper's indemnity program and continue rural fire protection with cost-sharing for small town firefighting gear.

The House sponsor was Rep. Roman J. Kosinski, D-Chicago. Daley told the Senate that most such weapons are produced in Florida and sold for $10 to $15.

"These are the weapons used frequently by young teenagers," Daley said.

U.S. Steel Told To Clean Gary Emissions

CHICAGO (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency issued an order Friday against the United States Steel Corp. asking for complete cleanup of particulate dust—emissions from the company's Gary Works and Universal Atlas Cement division of Gary.

The order requires the elimination of air pollution violations from all sources by Dec. 31, 1975, and was issued after three conferences with U.S. Steel, the Indiana Air Pollution Control Board and Gary officials during May and June.

An EPA spokesman said the order represents the largest single industrial air pollution source to be the subject of an EPA compliance order since the Clean Air Act Amendments were passed in 1970.

The EPA served a violation notice on the company April 18 and gave U.S. Steel 30 days to meet with EPA and formulate a clean-up program.

Prior to that time, the company had insisted it could not comply with air pollution regulations before mid-1977 because of difficulty in controlling coke oven emissions.

TRESPASS ARREST — Frank Cawthon, 25, of St. Anne, Mo., was arrested by city police Friday afternoon and held on suspicion of criminal trespass.

Figures Reveal Farmers Raising Less Baby Pigs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government predictions that consumers soon would have more meat on the table were dealt a setback Friday in a report showing that farmers are raising fewer baby pigs than expected.

The Agriculture Department said baby pig output in the Corn Belt, which produces three-fourth of the nation's pork supply, was 3 per cent below a year ago during the March-May period.

In a similar report last March, a 5 per cent increase in the spring pig crop was indicated. Those are animals which are being fattened now for market beginning early next fall.

Officials blamed the cutback in the baby pig production mostly on reluctance by farmers to expand output in the face of soaring feed costs. Some reduction was anticipated, but not as much as the report Friday showed.

Earlier this week the department said in a special outlook report that pork production was down 11 per cent in January-April from a year earlier "but is expected to increase through the balance of the year and about offset the early drop."

However, the new report showed that the cutback in baby pigs will continue through most of 1973. It was based on surveys among producers.

Corn Belt farmers indicated they intend to hold baby pig production in June-August to year-earlier levels. Last March, the department estimated there would be a 4 per cent increase.

Also, the report showed that pig crop intentions next fall would be up 1 per cent from September-November last year. There had been no earlier projection for the fall crop.

The report, based on June 1 indications, showed the Corn Belt inventory of all hogs and pigs at 45.7 million head, 1 per cent above a year earlier.

Nationally, there were 60.3 million hogs and pigs on farms June 1, one per cent less than a year earlier. That indicated that hog producers outside the Corn Belt cut back even more sharply last winter and spring.

Republican State Chairman Resigns Post

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Victor L. Smith officially announced Friday his resignation after 14 years as Republican State Chairman.

The announcement was expected. He said he hopes to receive a presidential appointment to serve on the Canadian Boundary Commission.

At a news conference, Smith said he hopes his successor will be "more militant, more aggressive and lead the party in more spectacular fashion."

"My problem has been I always liked everyone," said Smith. "I liked Democrats as well as Republicans."

He said the state central committee will name his successor at a meeting in Chicago or Springfield July 7 and mentioned Don Adams, of Springfield and William Stehl, of Belleville as candidates.

Smith is publisher of the Robinson Argus, a weekly newspaper. He said among his reasons for resigning is his wish to spend more time with his family.

AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — "A girl is a diamond's best friend," said the jewel merchant in commenting upon the surge of interest among women the world over that is helping to push diamond prices to unprecedented figures.

Statistics compiled by Dun & Bradstreet show that a high quality diamond that sold for $1,200 in 1953 had risen to $1,590 by early 1963 and to $3,800 in February of this year.

But since then, according to George Kaplan, vice president of Lazare Kaplan International, one of the country's largest finishers of quality stones, that same diamond has risen another $1,200 to around $5,000.

"The girls in Japan and Germany want to emulate their sisters in the United States," said Kaplan, who reports that wholesalers from those countries now visit the United States as they visit Switzerland for watches.

"The girls want more than the washing machines and other appliances they see on television," he continued. "They also want something to show the girls in the office."

Because of the growing demand and the limited supply—all the rough diamonds found in the world in a single year would fill only one 2½-ton truck—some 20 million American women have more of an inflation hedge than they realize.

The fear of inflation, as well as rising demand for engagement rings, is involved in the diamond price increases, as it is in the price of gold and antiques and paintings.

Rising prices are a worldwide phenomenon, and repeated currency disruptions accentuate the problem. People traditionally seek security in objects of real value when they begin to fear paper currency.

While not wishing that monetary insecurity should continue, Kaplan says he sees no reason why sales shouldn't continue to rise sharply, pushing prices even higher.

Here's the industry trend, based on imports of rough diamonds into the United States:

1961 ... $194 million.
1967 ... $388 million.
1972 ... $627 million.

Since retail prices average about 66 per cent higher than import prices of rough stones, Kaplan estimates that sales through jewelry stores this year will top $1 billion, compared with $653 million last year.

Kaplan, whose company has a reputation for cutting some of the world's finest stones, claims that the biggest price increases are occurring among the larger and higher quality diamonds.

With prices rising so strongly, wary speculators are inclined to ask, "What if some company learns to manufacture diamonds instead of digging them from the ground?"

To which Kaplan answers, "General Electric already has, but the cost of manufacture is so high that dealers would have to charge more for them than for real diamonds."

Importance Of Kansas City Foreign Trade Zone Cited

By LeROY POPE
UPI Business Writer
NEW YORK (UPI) — Most Americans think a foreign trade zone is just an area of an international airport where you can buy liquor or perfume duty free, but it's something vastly more important, says Marshall Miller of Kansas City.

Miller expects the new Great Midwest International Trade Center to make landlocked Kansas City one of the world's biggest import-export markets. He says it will increase the foreign trade of Kansas City and its hinterland from a present $3 billion a year to $6 billion within three years.

Recently back from a month's visit to Japan, Miller has all but completed deals with several big Japanese companies to locate in the Kansas City trade zone. A number of European and some American firms also plan to locate there.

The Zone is Unique
The Kansas City zone is unique among the United States' 10 foreign trade zones designated by the federal government. It is the only one far inland, and it is the biggest.

It is the only one with two separate areas and underground storage and travel facilities.

And it is the first to be entirely operated by private enterprise with no bureaucratic supervision. It is on a water, rail, highway and air transportation hub that can tap the entire Midwest overnight. It is even served by 1,200-ton barges in the Missouri-Mississippi river system.

But this trade zone isn't designed to dispense liquor and other luxury goods at bargain prices.

Rather, it is a manufacturing assembly and warehousing center for goods from all over the world. It enables manufacturers to bring products into the United States without paying tariff duty, and warehouse and process them until they leave the trade zone to be marketed in other parts of the United States.

Other soybean options were up the limit of 40 cents a bushel and other meal options were up the limit $15 a ton. Soybean oil futures also were up the limit, or 1 cent a pound.

There also was a strong demand in the grain futures pits. Corn futures were up 8 cents on the opening, wheat gained nearly 4 cents and oats 5 cents.

Iced broilers advanced 1 cent in relatively active dealings. The expiring July options in the soybean complex were traded without limits for three weeks but there was some restraint in price movement at times. Limits were established Thursday in a move to check any wild moves in the remaining month of trade in July options.

Soybeans and meal continue in short supply against a strong worldwide demand. This in turn has created a demand for futures amid a very scarce showing of sellers.

There was a strong demand for the July corn options, largely on the theory that whatever corn is in stocks now may be coming out as feed because of the scarcity of soybean meal.

Wheat and oats also were in heavy demand although deferred options in the three grain pits were somewhat more actively traded.

After about an hour, soybeans were 40 to 80 cents a bushel, July 12.12½; wheat was unchanged to 2½ higher, July 2.75; corn was 1 to 4½ higher, July 2.46 and oats were 2½ to 2½ higher, July new 1.3½.

If they go to other foreign countries after being processed, there is no American duty. American workers, however, are paid for processing the goods, and American financial institutions and American transportation companies benefit from processing and distribution of the goods.

Conditions Vary
Conditions that promise to make the Kansas City zone attractive to the world's manufacturers vary tremendously, Miller said. He cited two examples to explain the basic principle.

"A foreign bicycle manufacturer can ship components into the Kansas City trade zone without paying any duty. He then can assemble them into complete bicycles with American labor. When he ships them out of Kansas City to other parts of the United States, he pays only the 5½ per cent duty."

The other example rests on the fact that American makers of products can import up to 49 per cent foreign components at substantial savings into the Kansas City trade zone without paying any tariff duty.

The finished products can be assembled in the trade zone with American labor, then can be legally shipped anywhere in the United States without paying duty so long as the foreign cost component is 49 per cent or less.

NEW TRADING LIMITS SET IN JULY SOYBEANS
CHICAGO (AP) — New trading limits were established in July soybeans and meal on the Chicago Board of Trade today and beans opened 80 cents a bushel higher and meal $30 a ton higher.

Other soybean options were up the limit of 40 cents a bushel and other meal options were up the limit $15 a ton. Soybean oil futures also were up the limit, or 1 cent a pound.

There also was a strong demand in the grain futures pits. Corn futures were up 8 cents on the opening, wheat gained nearly 4 cents and oats 5 cents.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed higher Friday after zooming up dramatically in early trading but losing most of the gains in later trading.

The moderately active trading was sparked by the announcement by the Committee on Interest and Dividends that companies could pay larger dividends to their shareholders.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial closed up 6.17 points at 879.82. In the first half-hour of the buying frenzy, the Dow was up 19 points.

Advancing issues on the New York Stock Exchange led declining issues 767 to 653 in the 1,770 issues changing hands.

Analysts said some profit-taking pulled the early gains down. The Dow closed Thursday at 873.65, its lowest level since Dec. 16, 1971.

The broad-based NYSE index of some 1,500 common stocks closed at 54.56, up 0.24.

S. S. Kresge Co. was the most-active issue on the Big Board, closing down 1½ at 33. The company announced it may open fewer than 100 K-Mart discount stores this year.

On the American Stock Exchange, prices dropped. Declines edged out advances 446 to 332 in the 1,144 issues changing hands. The price-change index was up .04 at 22.34.

In Over-the-Counter trading, the NASDAQ index was up 0.59 at 100.99.

Railroads Win House Vote Of State Subsidy

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois House has passed and sent to the Senate an appropriation for nearly $2 million in state subsidies for passenger rail service between Chicago and several downstate cities.

Sponsoring Rep. Clarence Neff, R-Stronghurst, said Thursday passage of the bill would help solve current pollution problems.

"We're all aware of the energy situation and the pollution situation," he said. "It is important that we keep these trains moving."

The $1.96-million appropriation specifically will be used to offset two-thirds of the operating deficits incurred by the following rail passenger services:

Chicago to Quincy, Chicago to Springfield, Chicago to East Dubuque, Chicago to Peoria, Chicago to Rock Island and Chicago to Springfield via Champaign and Decatur.

As initially drawn up, the bill would have subsidized rail service only as far as Decatur on the last run.

But the House accepted in a voice vote an amendment sponsored by Rep. Frank Giglio, D-Calumet City, which added $80,000 to the appropriation and extended the subsidy for the run from Decatur to Springfield.

The measure passed in a 142-0 vote.

Senate Approves Measure To End Landscape Blight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has approved a bill to bring an end to landscape blight caused by chaotic urban sprawl and to protect beaches and shorelines.

The Senate passed the land-use bill, eagerly sought by environmentalists, on a 64-21 vote Thursday. It requires the states to establish land-use plans within eight years.

The measure, which now goes before the House where similar legislation is under study, was substantially unchanged from the version approved by the Senate Interior Committee.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the Interior Committee, argued for passage on grounds that nationwide planning is essential to protect America's natural resources.

The measure would authorize, over an eight-year period, $1 billion for land-use planning and $66 million for administration, research and training.

States would receive $920 million for developing state and regional plans and $80 million would go for Indian tribal plans.

The plans would follow federal guidelines aimed at preserving such areas of critical environmental concern as beaches, jetports, shorelines and highway interchanges. The guidelines would be under Interior Department supervision.

A House Interior subcommittee has completed hearings on land-use-planning bills and is expected to consider the proposals in mid-July.

KEY 73 PLANS FOR SUMMER

The Jacksonville Area Committee on KEY 73 met June 14 at Mt. Emory Baptist church to plan summer programs in the area. Some of the programs approved are: July 21, worship service and hymn-singing at Lake Jacksonville. All campers and area residents are invited to be at the public boat dock that evening.

Another project underway is Backyard Bible Study for children and mothers. These are interdenominational groupings of children for any neighborhood. If you would like to host one, contact Mrs. Fred Cody or Mrs. Barney Elias.

During the Morgan County Fair, there will be a booth for KEY 73.

August 6, there will be a seventy-member choir from University of Texas (Fort Worth) giving an evening concert in Central Park.

Plans were approved for the Bill Glass Crusade in April 1974.

URW-FIRESTONE REACH TENTATIVE AGREEMENT

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Tentative agreement was reached early today on a new contract with the strikebound Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., a spokesman for the United Rubber Workers said.

The union spokesman declined to give any details. The agreement was reached after a bargaining session which lasted into the early morning hours.

The strike by 18,000 Firestone workers at 13 plants around the country was in its third day today.

FINDLEY, SMITH
DISCUSSION ON CHANNEL 10

A 30-minute filmed discussion between U.S. Representative Paul Findley and Lt. Col. Philip Smith of Roodhouse will be presented Sunday on WGEM-TV, Channel 10, Quincy.

Lt. Col. Smith was released earlier this year after eight years imprisonment in Communist China. He was captured by the Chinese when his plane was forced down after it had strayed off course during a mission over North Vietnam.

The discussion to be shown was filmed last month while Smith was in Washington to attend a reception for returned POWs given by President Nixon at the White House.

PAGES OF NOTE

Ron Greenberg, executive producer of NBC-TV's "The Who, What or Where Game," began his broadcasting career as an NBC page. Also on the page staff at the time was Dick Schneider, the director of the daytime series.

CAINE (David Carradine) is shown in a moment of meditation in "Alethea," on the ABC Television Network series, "Kung Fu," Thursday, June 28 (8-9 p.m.). Carradine plays a Chinese-American fugitive living a precarious existence on the American frontier of the 1870's.

RING SIDE

Richard Boone, star of NBC-TV's "Hec Ramsey," was a member of the Stanford University boxing team and won the intercollegiate light-heavyweight championship in 1936 and 1937.

TRIPLE TALENT

Frank Ferguson, who is featured as Eli Carson on NBC-TV's "Return to Peyton Place," has also been a director and teacher. His students have included Dana Andrews, Victor Mature, Eleanor Parker, Helmut Dantine and Gig Young.

NET GAIN

Bert Parks, who will emcee the annual Miss America Pageant on NBC-TV Sept. 8, is an avid tennis player and is able to play outdoors the year round by spending his winters in Florida and his summers in Connecticut.

DESIGNING ACTRESS

Deirdre Lenihan, who will appear in NBC-TV's new fall series, "Needles and Pins," as a dress designer, actually studied dress designing at New York's Fashion Institute of Technology.

PERSONAL EFFECT

Peter Falk, star of NBC-TV's "Columbo," is quite proud of the rumpled raincoat he wears on the series. "It's my own coat," he explains.

Blair, Daley Forces Pass Tax Measure

By H.F. WOLLENBERG IV
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Legislation to cut the state sales tax by half a per cent received final legislative approval in the Illinois House Friday and was sent to the desk of Gov. Daniel Walker, climaxing a three-day behind the scenes battle in which Walker pleaded with his party to defeat the measure.

Democrats controlled by Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley joined with Republican supporters of Speaker W. Robert Blair, R-Park Forest, to accept a Senate amendment to a House-passed sales tax cut measure.

The vote was 107-53 with two lawmakers voting present.

The measure is closely tied to a Republican proposal to create a regional mass transportation authority in the Chicago area.

Lawmakers debated the sales tax cut for more than three hours, interrupted by a 20-minute Democratic caucus.

It was the fourth time in three days that Democrats met privately to discuss strategy on the issue, twice hearing Walker speak.

Walker, who held a news conference while the Democrats were meeting Friday, said the sales tax cut plan was a "trick proposal."

"Legislators from all over the state — Democratic and Republican alike — should be well advised of the obvious, slight of hand trickery involved in the Blair scheme," he said.

His views were echoed on the House floor by lawmakers who said the half per cent cut would not be passed on to consumers and that it would be a "bonanza" for retail merchants.

Walker favors a $400 exemption per person on state income tax.

Sources in the party also said that at the party caucus, Walker said defeat of the Republican-sponsored plan would be essential to Democratic state victories in the 1974 political campaign.

Republicans charged that during the last three days, Walker has threatened some Republicans with losses of patronage jobs should they vote for concurrence with the Senate on the measure.

STUDENT NURSES were among the first in line to donate blood Thursday morning. From left, Rich Crowley, affiliated with the blood bank in Springfield; Rachel Shaw, Pittsfield; Jeanne Curry, Griggs-ville; Janet Swearingen, Industry; Elizabeth Hanback, Murrayville; Connie Underwood, Mt. Sterling; Beth Hedrick, Jacksonville; and Cheryl Denison, Milton.

New Blood Program At PMAH

A total of 26 prospective blood donors reported to Passavant hospital Thursday morning for the first day's operation of the new community program. Among them was Miss Laura Schumacher, a regular donor for many years to the previous program sponsored in cooperation with the Red Cross, who has donated nine-and-one-half gallons of blood. Another regular volunteer is Jean Carter, who has given 23 units. Twenty-two units were collected Thursday.

Under the new system, blood collections will be held every Tuesday and Thursday at Passavant from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and during evening hours to be announced. Blood drawn from Morgan County residents will primarily be used to meet the needs of patients in local hospitals, who use about 100 units a month.

Fresh supplies of blood are insured by the change to twice weekly collections, here, instead of the larger collections at six-week intervals provided by the previous program.

Another advantage is the maintenance of a larger local inventory of blood.

"We'll draw between 20 and 30 pints a week," Dr. Robert Kooker, PMAH pathologist said, "and keep a daily inventory of about 45 units. Supplies will be updated daily, and emergency supplies can be delivered from Springfield within an hour."

Clarendon Smith, president of the board of Passavant, expressed the board's gratitude for community support of the new program.

Good Response

"Response to the first drawing was exceptionally fine," he said, "thanks to the willingness of our citizens to help, and to the recruiting and educational work of the Ladies Aid Society. I'm confident that all of us will benefit from the new arrangements."

Richard D. Crowley, executive director of the Central Illinois Community Blood Bank with which the Morgan County program is affiliated, said that in addition to blood used in local hospitals, residents of Morgan County probably will use about 300 points of blood a year in other hospitals. They will be covered by the community program even though the blood is received elsewhere.

"We hope that friends and relatives of blood recipients will replace all blood used," he said. "This will help assure the transfusion needs of other patients."

Persons interested in volunteering as donors may call Passavant (245-9541, Ext. 227) for further information or to make an appointment.

Findley Asks Corps To Allow Flood Benefits

WASHINGTON — Representative Paul Findley (R-Illinois) in a letter to the Chief of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers asked that a "no liability" clause contained in lease contracts for government owned lands upon which flood-damaged home sites are located, be waived to allow the homeowners to qualify for Small Business Administration disaster loans.

Findley said, "Because of the accident of land ownership, some persons are denied disaster aid loans to repair their homes while their neighbors, whose homes are not located on government owned lands, are allowed to receive such disaster loans. To the person who has suffered losses from flooding, such a distinction seems arbitrary and unreasonable. I agree with this contention and have asked the Corps of Engineers to waive this restriction in fairness to flood victims."

Drugs, Truck Stolen In City Friday

City police investigated a report of a broken window at 6:29 a.m. Friday at the Medical Center, 1440 W. Walnut.

A large window on the south side was broken at the Drive-In Pharmacy and a large cabinet containing narcotics was reported missing.

The investigation also revealed a pickup truck had been stolen from the Carnation plant employee parking lot sometime after midnight Thursday. The truck was owned by Leonard Fisher.

State police found the truck shortly after 9 a.m. Friday three miles west of the Junction on Route 104 and 36 west of the city and the cabinet was in the bed of the truck.

Detectives said the truck apparently ran out of gas, but the cabinet was opened and the contents missing. The contents included several types of narcotics valued at less than $1,000. City police are investigating the incident.

Pike Resident Killed Thursday In 1-Car Crash

PITTSFIELD — A Pike county resident was killed late Thursday in a one-vehicle accident about nine miles west of Pittsfield.

Pronounced dead on arrival at Illini Hospital about 10:30 p.m. was 41-year-old Walter C. Cammire of Route 1, Kinderhook.

Investigating state police said Cammire was westbound on Route 36 when he apparently lost control of his 1971 Jeep, running off the road, through a ditch, climbed a bank, ran through a fence and came to rest in a field.

The accident happened on what was described as a "bad curve."

He was born Oct. 19, 1931 in Illinois, a son of Walter and Ruby Holmes Cammire.

He attended Barry schools and was a member of the Christian church in Barry and Local 965 International Union of Operating Engineers.

Mr. Cammire was an operator of heavy equipment and worked for Cephas Williams, Inc.

GOP Claims Votes To Override A Veto

By JOSEPH R. TYBOR
Associated Press Writer
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Republican legislative leaders flushed with their victory in the Illinois House on a tax relief — mass transit proposal, said Friday the favorable vote shows they have sufficient support to override any veto attempt by Gov. Daniel Walker.

Walker, who strongly opposes the measure sponsored by House Speaker W. Robert Blair, virtually conceded defeat earlier in the day when he indicated at a news conference he will try to get his own proposal for tax relief to his desk along with that of Blair's.

Blair's bill as amended in the Senate provides a one-half per cent cut in the state sales tax and is closely tied with a regional transit system for the six-county Chicago area.

Walker's proposal, which still must pass both Houses, seeks relief through a $400 increase in the allowable exemption on the state income tax.

It is not tied to a regional transit plan for northeastern Illinois.

The vote completing final legislative action on the Blair bill was 107-53 with two lawmakers voting present.

Blair and Senate President William C. Harris, said the votes in both Houses show more than the three-fifths majority necessary to override a governor's veto.

At a news conference after the Blair bill had been brought for action on the House floor but had not yet been voted on, Walker declined to say whether he would veto the Blair bill.

The tax cut if Walker signs it would go into effect Jan. 1, 1974.

If Republicans also win approval of their proposal for a mass transportation authority, the authority would be given power to levy the same one-half per cent sales tax in the six counties involved in the system.

The measure as Blair sponsored it would have provided a two per cent sales tax cut on food and prescription medicine. But it was amended in the Senate after the Republican-backed mass transit proposal was introduced to provide for the one-half per cent sales tax cut.

Wearing a neck brace to compensate for an injury suffered several weeks ago, Blair seemed confident of concurrence as he explained the measure.

"The question before us is whether we want sales tax relief on a broad-based scale," he said.

Asked by Rep. Gene Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights, who opposed Blair in the fight for the speakership earlier in the session, how much the reduction would cost the state, Blair replied that for six months the cost would be $75 million.

"How do we know that is correct," Schlickman said.

"Take my word for it," Blair answered.
